Crowning Glory
Q. What is the general purpose and process involved in having one's teeth capped? Is capping permanent? M.B., Long Beach.

A. Capping is done for cosmetic reasons as well as to repair teeth badly damaged through fracture or decay, a spokesman for the Harbor Dental Society told ACTION LINE. Capping means completely covering a tooth. In the back of the mouth, a gold crown is favored and, in the front, porcelain or a combination of porcelain and gold usually is used. The society noted that no dental replacement is considered permanent — that is not subject to possible deterioration eventually — but indicated caps should hold up as well as any other dental repairs.

Q. Why does the city of Long Beach require the Los Altos Little League to remove their El Dorado Park baseball diamond fences at the end of each year? It costs a lot of money to store them. The city leaves their fences up. W.J.S., Long Beach.

A. Maintenance problems and park uses other than Little League baseball are two factors going into the city's policy, explained Duane George, associate director of the Long Beach Recreation Department. "As we have told the various Little League officers many times, the fences greatly complicate the jobs of park gardeners," he said. "They must mow and edge along the entire fence on both sides not only at El Dorado Park, but at Stearns Park and at the many fields at Heartwell. If we were to keep the fences up in the months between August and March, our expenses would increase greatly." He pointed out that the Little League fences change the standard field's dimensions, and also would make flag football games on the same ground impossible during the winter months particularly at Heartwell and Stearns. "The fences would block other activities and be a burden out of baseball season," he said. He added that the department's storage facilities, although scattered around the city, are too cramped to take in your fences. "We're glad to have our parks used, but we can't get rid of all of the drawbacks," he said.

Old Dodge
Q. Can ACTION LINE tell me where I can buy a mechanic's manual for a 1964 Dodge? I have tried all the local dealers, and have even written to Detroit, but no one has one. G.W.D., Downey.

A. That manual has been out of stock for a year, according to Robert McNulty, service engineer for the California region at Chrysler Corp. in Detroit, Mich. He said the detailed manual, which is the size of a telephone book, is given to each dealer, and a few are kept in Detroit to sell to do-it-yourself mechanics. "But there's not enough demand for the old ones to make reordering them worthwhile," McNulty said. He promised to try and hunt one up for you, but couldn't guarantee success.

Digest
Q. Several years ago I sent my mother, who is now 87, the Reader's Digest for Christmas. Because she was losing her eyesight, I canceled the subscription three years ago, but she still gets the magazines, and is being billed for them. Now they are threatening to sue her if she doesn't pay the bill. I have written to "Reader's Digest" many times, but my letters don't seem to reach the right person. G.J., Long Beach.

A. Mrs. Lucille Buzotto, circulation representative for Reader's Digest, was unable to explain why your mother's subscription was not canceled. She promised to look into the matter immediately and remove your mother's name from their files. She assured ACTION LINE that no legal action will be taken against your mother while the cancellation is being processed. To aid Mrs. Buzotto in locating your mother's file, you should send her a copy of the last bill your mother received and her account number. Certificated

Q. When I was 16, six shares of stock in the Sunray DX Oil Company were put in my name under the California Uniform Gift to Minors Act. I have lost the shares, which also were in my father's name as custodian, and would like to replace the and get the dividend checks which have been accumulating. My request to the old company has gone unanswered. H.W.M., Long Beach.

A. By now, your father should have received the reissued certificates and notice of dividends. A spokesman for The Fidelity Bank in Philadelphia, Pa., said a change of address by your father delayed the replacement stock certificates.

Egypt Assails Nixon

Vows 'Liberation' of Palestine, All Captured Lands

CARIO, Saturday (UPI) — Egypt, disclaiming a diplomatic solution to the Middle East crisis as useless, declared its intention today not only to recapture all Arab territory lost in the 1967 war with Israel but also to force the "liberation" of Palestine. The Arab "objective is the liberation of Palestine and not merely the liberation of the Sinai" desert area seized by Israel in the six-day war, said Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Riad in a statement published in the semi-official Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram. Riad said his government was convinced political and diplomatic efforts to resolve the Mideast crisis would fail not only "because of Israel's expansionist ambitions but also because America's attitude was meant to deceive."

RIAD CHARGED U.S. President Nixon is retaining a pro-Israel policy handed down from the Johnson administration and the United States is the "victim of a Zionist conspiracy."

The Egyptian foreign minister said his government had backed the United Nations Security Council resolution proposing a peaceful settlement of the crisis because it wanted to "expose Israel's imperialist intentions. He said the proposed big-four talks on the Mideast by the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union would be "of no avail."

In Jerusalem, chief Israeli government spokesman Maj. Gen. Haim Herzog said in a radio broadcast today that Israel has various defensive options for use in case of an Egyptian attack.

Herzog did not elaborate but said Israeli troops along the Suez Canal are prepared to "give much more than they take and in a much more effective manner without exposing themselves to unduly high casualties."

Nixon, Eban Confer on Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban conferred Friday, touching on all "important basic elements" of the Mideast situation.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler declined to go beyond these three words in describing what went on in this meeting which concluded three days of extensive talks between Eban and Secretary of State William P. Rogers.

Two Killed in Tenant Shootout

By JIM HYNES
Staff Writer

A point-blank shoot-out between a Carson landlord and a tenant left both men dead from head wounds late Friday.

Lt. Norm Hamilton of the L.A. County sheriff's homicide bureau, said Nick Scharfor, 30, of 19430 S. Midtown Ave., and tenant Nathaniel Smith, 30, of 19402 S. Midtown, were found dead at the latter's residence after neighbors reported hearing gunshots.

Scharfor had evicted Smith some time ago for failure to pay rent but Smith broke the front-door lock and had resumed residency, Lt. Hamilton said.

The landlord armed himself and went to the house in an attempt to either get the rent owed him or to evict Smith again when the gunfight ensued, Lt. Hamilton reported.

Deputies found .22-caliber and .38-caliber revolvers near the bodies but were unable to determine immediately which victim had used which gun.

Panther Shot in Gun Battle; 'US' Blamed

By BILL HOMER
Staff Writer

Black Panther Ronald Freeman, arrested amid the investigation of the campus slayings of two UCLA students in January, was seriously wounded in a South Central Los Angeles gun battle after a student boycott meeting Friday.

Freeman, 24, of Los Angeles, was in serious condition at County-USC Medical Center following the shoot-out in the parking lot of Victory Baptist Church.

Witnesses indicated the shooting was the latest in an apparent war between the Panthers and Ron Karenga's "US" organization for control of radical Negro student groups in Los Angeles, police said.

Those Lucky Irish — Foine Weather

By FRED O'HAMLIN
Staff Writer

Southlanders will enjoy a bit of the luck of the Irish this weekend and at least through St. Patrick's Day, weather experts predict.

Clear skies, warm air from the nearby deserts and just enough breeze to keep the smog away until spring arrives — Thursday at 11:08 a.m., Long Beach time — should make the

The shooting of Freeman capped militant students' marches on two schools and a denunciation by the Council of Black Administrators of school boycott tactics.

Freeman and 16 other Panthers were arrested on charges of illegal possession of explosives following the Jan. 17 gunshots slayings of Panthers Alprentice Carter, 26, and John Huggins, 23, in the UCLA cafeteria following a black students meeting.

A Municipal Court judge ordered Freeman released on grounds of insufficient evidence when the Panther appeared for preliminary hearing in Los Angeles.

Following the parking lot shooting in which Freeman was wounded once in the chest and once in the groin, police issued an all-points bulletin for four Negro men with shaved heads who reportedly fled the scene in a green station wagon.

Lt. Jesus Majia said the men are believed to be members of Karenga's "US."

Only occasional "devil winds" gusting in the mountains and down coastal canyon slopes will keep the climatological situation from perfection.

TEMPERATURES in the Long Beach-Los Angeles area already have begun warming up, and mid-70 highs are expected locally today and Sunday. There may even be a summer-like heat wave, with readings in the 80s, before spring bows in.

The respite from winter rains, which have created havoc and posted new precipitation records in Southern California weather books, will be welcomed.

Congress Reaction Is Mixed

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional reaction to President Nixon's modified missile defense plan bore out the President's own forecast Friday that the vote approving it will be close.

Congressional leaders also cast a skeptical eye on his promise of a $2.5 billion military spending cut.

The cautious judgment of party leaders in the Senate — where controversy over the ABM has gained explosive force — was that the administration has enough votes at this point to gain approval of the program.

But Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said it is anybody's guess what will happen after the Senate and House appropriations committees explore the program.

He added that as of now he believes there is enough support for Nixon's plan to put it across. Mansfield said he has "serious questions" in his own mind about the program.

REPUBLICAN LEADER Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois told a separate news conference he thinks Congress will accept the program. Nixon himself predicted the outcome might wind up like the one-vote margin by which Congress approved continuation of the draft in 1941.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon said in his news conference Friday he foresees no chance of withdrawing any U.S. troops from Vietnam in the near future and announced he will confer with his advisers today on how to respond to the persistent Communist offensive.

Dirksen said he is supporting Nixon's decision to concentrate the missile defense sites on protecting U.S. deterrent power rather than trying to shield the big population centers.

"And if I had no other reason, it would be reason enough to go ahead with the defense system because it would strengthen our hands at the negotiating table in any bargaining we might do in the future," he said.

Dirksen said there was no discussion at a White House meeting of 35 congressional leaders with the President on how the new administration proposes to trim $2.5 billion off the $81.5 billion military spending budget Lyndon

Enemy Rockets Hit Hue, 50 Targets

COMBINED NEWS SERVICES

SAIGON Saturday — Enemy gunners fired four rockets into the ancient capital of Hue early today and shelled nearly 50 other targets around South Vietnam. The stepped-up attacks — three times the number recorded the previous night — came almost as President Nixon was saying in Washington that the U.S. has warned the enemy once and will act without further warning if the enemy pushes the offensive too far. U.S. and South Vietnamese military bases and a few cities from the demilitarized zone to the Mekong Delta were hit by rockets and mortars overnight as the Communist command's spring drive neared the end of its third week. Some U.S. officers say this weekend, with the dark of the moon cloaking troop movements, might prove critical. One termed Friday's one-day lull ominous. The rocket attack on Hue was the second of the current offensive. The U.S. Command said no casualties or damage were reported.

Chinese Hordes Rant at Russ Embassy

MOSCOW — Red Chinese demonstrators are shouting themselves hoarse in two hour shifts outside the Soviet Embassy in Peking, the Soviet news agency Tass said Friday. Chinese kindergarten and grade school children were being drafted to fill protest ranks. Loudspeaker on rooftops and utility poles keep up a torrent of anti-Soviet abuse sparked by the Russian-Chinese clash on the Manchurian border two weeks ago, Tass said.

PEKING — Huge crowds formed throughout Peking following the publication of a "new instruction" by chairman Mao Tse-tung and of a warning by the Communist Party to the nation to "hold itself ready in case of war," because of the border clash.

Reds Urge U.S., Viet Cong Hold Talks

PARIS — Communist diplomats urged the U.S. Friday to negotiate directly with the Viet Cong outside the Vietnam peace conference in a bid to break the deadlock at the Paris conference table. Viet Cong spokesmen said anew they were ready for serious bilateral talks with the Americans. U.S. refusal to do so was the main roadblock in the way of an accord to end the Vietnam fighting, they said.

Yugo Reds Reject Soviet Doctrine

BELGRADE — The Yugoslav Communist party congress rejected unanimously Friday the Soviet doctrine of limited sovereignty used to justify the Warsaw Pact invasion of Czechoslovakia last Aug. 20. The congress adopted a resolution that said any interference by Communist states in the affairs of other Communist states was wrong "no matter what reasons purport to justify it."

Arabs Form New Front Against Israel

DAMASCUS — Diplomatic sources here said Friday that Iraqi troops have moved into Syria to begin forging a new eastern front against Israel. New Israeli air raids were reported in Jordan. Cairo dispatches said Egypt was building fortifications and air raid shelters in a crash program prompted by fears of an Israeli thrust across the Suez Canal.

Top Buddhist Monk on Trial for Life

SAIGON — Saturday — A military court was convening this morning to try one of South Vietnam's most influential Buddhist monks on a series of charges and there were fears of large-scale Buddhist demonstrations.

The defendant, Thich (venerable) Thien Minh, was arrested Feb. 23 at the Buddhist youth headquarters in downtown Saigon and accused of crimes which included the harboring of weapons. Maximum penalty on conviction is death.

Three of eight students arrested with Minh also face possible death sentences.

Minh's pagoda issued a statement Friday calling on Buddhists through South Vietnam to condemn the trial as a government move "exploiting the state of war to destroy the Buddhist church."

The statement described President Nguyen Van Thieu as "the second fervent Roman Catholic president in South Vietnam to treat the Buddhists worse than the government's own enemy."

This was a reference to Ngo Dinh Diem, autocratic Roman Catholic president whose tenure ended in assassination in 1963 after months of Buddhist agitation in which he was accused of persecuting members of the sect.

Accused Mutineers Get Venue Change

SAN FRANCISCO — A change of venue was granted Friday to five young soldiers facing a military court martial after defense attorneys expressed fears of a "military backlash." The defense also dismissed four members of the court-martial panel on peremptory challenges and entered formal innocent pleas for the accused. The trial will resume Wednesday. The soldiers are charged in connection with a sitdown Oct. 14 in the Presidio stockade. Civilian counsel David Lowe said, "There is a definite air of hostility in this city, not toward the defendants, but toward the military and the Presidio." Lowe said he feared the military might react to this by turning against the defendants.

Bucher Returns to Fictional Ship

CORONADO — USS Pueblo skipper Lloyd M. Bucher returned to running his fictional ship Friday while five admirals pondered whether he should ever again hold another Navy command. The five-admiral court of inquiry concluded Thursday after hearing from 104 witnesses and accumulating almost 3,400 pages of testimony. Now it must draw up its findings, which will eventually work their way up to President Nixon. Although the Pueblo is in North Korean hands, it is, in Navy legal fiction, still a ship and Bucher is her commanding officer. The Pueblo crew is housed at the North Island Naval Air Station near here, and Cmdr. Bucher runs the "ship" from a nearby office.

Tax-Retirement Plan Proposed

WASHINGTON — An insurance executive proposed Friday a tax-deductible retirement plan for salaried workers—similar to the tax breaks allowed self-employed persons on their retirement funds. D. H. Kopelman of the MacCabees Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Southfield, Mich., asked the House Ways and Means Committee to allow workers to put aside up to $2,500 a year toward retirement. The money would not be subject to taxes until withdrawn during retirement years.

Boyd Clears First Hurdle in Probe

WASHINGTON — A preliminary investigation did not show any wrongdoing by Alan S. Boyd, former secretary of transportation in connection with a $25.2-million grant to the Illinois Central Railroad, a spokesman for John A. Volpe, the present secretary of transportation, said Friday night. The grant, which has since been held up, was made at a time when Boyd was on the verge of becoming president of the Illinois Central. Boyd has previously declared that on his own instructions information about the grant application was withheld from him until he left the transportation department and took over the Illinois Central on Jan. 7.

Little Progress in Airline Tieup

WASHINGTON — Negotiators for American Airlines and the Transport Workers Union continued intensified bargaining sessions Friday night in an attempt to end their labor dispute, now in its 16th day. Representatives of both sides reported little progress toward settling the strike which has grounded the planes of the nation's second largest airline and idled 15,000 workers in 52 cities.

Negro Up for Labor Post

Combined News Service

Art Fletcher, special urban affairs aide to Washington's Gov. Dan Evans, was nominated assistant secretary of labor Friday by President Richard Nixon. Fletcher, 43, once a shoeshine boy and Ram football player, will be responsible for wage and labor standards when he assumes the $38,750-a-year post April 1, Evans said.

A prime responsibility will be manpower development projects and establishment of contact with mayors and local government, Fletcher said of the job.

Nixon announced in Washington the nomination that would make Fletcher one of the highest ranking Negroes in the Republican administration. Evans announced it in Olympia. The nomination is subject to Senate confirmation.

Fletcher, a former Pasco, Wash., city councilman who was defeated in a race for state lieutenant governor last fall, became Evan's assistant last month in the area of urban affairs and economic development.

Calling himself "a product of the ghetto," Fletcher gained Nixon's attention at the Republican National Convention when he went before the Platform Committee to promote "new action politics for whites, blacks, Indians and pinks." "My new politics calls for applying foreign aid program to our own depressed neighborhoods," he said at the time.

Fletcher, who stands 6-foot-4 and is the son of a $50-a-month Army enlisted man, rose to state prominence as a city councilman in Pasco, where he formed the East Pasco Self Help Cooperative to involve local residents in building a shopping center, credit union and supermarket in a predominantly Negro area. He continued serving as an advisor to Nixon following his narrow defeat to incumbent lieutenant governor John Chergberg last November.

The ex-leader mingled affably among guests, but his hands were cold and his grip feeble. Sukarno has been suffering from chronic kidney trouble.

'Plagiarism' Charged in Sirhan's Defense

United Press International
A New York publisher said Friday he may sue Sirhan B. Sirhan's defense psychologist for using almost the exact wording of a popular book on crime psychiatry in his trial report on Sirhan's motivation in killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

The publisher, Bernard Geis, said he was not sure he would sue Dr. Martin M. Schorr, of San Diego, for plagiarism but he was "considering it very carefully." Dr. James A. Brussel, author of Geis-published "Casebook of a Crime Psychologist," told the New York Times from a vacation spot in the Caribbean that he hoped Geis would sue.

The similarity of passages in Schorr's report, which was read into the trial record Wednesday to excerpts from Brussel's book were brought to the attention of the Times by a woman caller who asked that her name not be used. The excerpts all dealt with the solution of the murder of Mrs. Mary Nerich in New York's Queens Borough in 1957 with the aid of Brussel's psychiatric sleuthing.

One excerpt read: "The boy hated his father, yes — and more important, feared him. Therefore, he would never entertain the idea of doing away with the man . . . then, somewhere along the line, the protecting mother may have 'failed' her boy." A parallel passage by Schorr read: "He hated his father and feared him. He would never consciously entertain the idea of doing away with him. But somewhere along the line, the protecting mother fails her son."

Another Brussel excerpt read: "She whom he loved never kept her pledge and he began to feel that she really didn't love him. Pain had to be repaid with pain, and since the subconscious always demands maximum penalties . . . Schorr's report read: "She, whom he loved, never kept her pledge, and now this pain had to be repaid with pain. Since the unconscious always demands maximum penalties, the pain had to be death."

Brussel, 63, retired several years ago as assistant commissioner of mental hygiene for New York State. Among the famous cases in which he aided police were New York's "Mad Bomber" case and the Boston Strangler case. His "Casebook of a Crime Psychiatrist," published last fall, will be the Book of the Month club alternate selection in April.

New Commerce Unit Gets Aide

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Reagan appointed Arthur J. Costamagna to a $20,500 job Friday as deputy director of the new State Department of Commerce.

Costamagna, 35, has been chief deputy director of the Department of Professional and Vocational Standards since June 1967. He will be succeeded by Frank Reynolds, who has been deputy director the past 18 months.

LETTER OF DISMISSAL Noguchi 'Erratic Conduct' Charged

A letter of dismissal directed toward Dr. Thomas T. Noguchi, the county coroner, accused him of "erratic behavior" that indicated a need for psychiatric care.

The 10-page letter from County Chief Administrative Officer Lindon S. Hollinger is subject to approval by the county supervisors next Tuesday.

Specific charges against the 42-year-old pathologist, who performed the autopsy on Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, included:

— Noguchi expressed a desire last January to perform autopsies on Hollinger and two other county officials and stated that he "might have to assassinate Hollinger first."

— He went into an assistant's office last Dec. 20, drew a knife from his belt and said of another physician, "I'll kill him, I'll kill him."

— On another occasion he pulled out a knife and said he wanted to "cut up" a subordinate.

Hollinger said other physicians who had observed Noguchi said his behavior indicated a need for "psychiatric care."

The letter said many members of Noguchi's staff voiced "grave doubts" about his mental health.

Staff members observed Noguchi "taking a variety of pills and capsules, some of which appeared to be amphetamine dexamyl," the letter said.

The letter said of Noguchi:

"You stated on several occasions that each night you prayed that a (Boeing) 727 loaded to capacity would crash into the International Hotel because the press would then come and Noguchi would be the center of attention."

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Pascal & Ludwig, Upland, has been awarded a $838,888 contract to construct a portion of the state's water project's Santa Ana Valley pipeline seven miles southeast of Riverside, the Department of Water Resources announced Friday.

L.A. Starts Convention Center Job

Nearly 35 years of controversy was climaxed in Los Angeles Friday when workmen began construction of the city's $41.8-million down-town convention center.

The first structure to go up on the 36-acre site at Pico Boulevard and Figueroa Street will be a two-story parking facility with a capacity of 1,000 automobiles.

Work on the building itself is scheduled to begin July 1, after a multimillion dollar street and sewer project is completed.

THE CENTER — costing nearly $17 million more than anticipated at the time of its approval three years ago — will include a 458,000-square-foot building, one of the largest in the nation.

The start of construction Friday was not marked by any special ceremony, according to a spokesman for the Los Angeles Convention and Exhibition Center Authority.

The site was finally selected three years ago after a lengthy City Council debate, and had a $25-million price limit.

City Administrative Officer C. Erwin Piper, however, said the center will produce sufficient revenue to break even within three years of its completion in July 1971.

Request 'XYY Syndrome' Test for Murder Suspect

By MOLLY BURRELL
Staff Writer

A young woman convicted in the sex-and-torture orgy of two captive teen-age girls returned to Long Beach Superior Court Friday to offer an alibi for a former paramour accused of the "Good Samaritan slaying" of Gary Jonasson in a tavern parking lot.

In the same courtroom Friday, a defense attorney requested tests be made to determine if a second slaying suspect has the "XYY Syndrome," a chromosome abnormality some doctors say predisposes individuals to violence.

The two suspects — on trial for the Aug. 24 murder of Jonasson — are Orby Williams, 22, of 23 Elm Ave., and William B. Thomason, 22, of Los Angeles.

Jonasson died a week after he was shot four times in a parking lot at Lucky's Dollhouse, 1400 Cherry Ave., where he stayed late to help a frightened bartender close his tavern.

The suspects are also on trial for five counts of robbery.

Williams' former girl friend, Katherine (Tiger) Springer, 21, formerly of 80 Maine Ave., testified the suspect had been at her apartment throughout the early morning when Jon-

Miss Springer is one of five women and three men convicted of forcible rape of two teen-age runaways during a sex and torture orgy last October at the Maine Avenue apartment. She was sentenced to three years to life by Judge John McCarthy.

During Friday's testimony, Miss Springer told of a two-week romance with Williams which included his overnight and early morning visits at her apartment and nightly meetings at the bar where Williams worked.

She also told of telling police the location of a small handgun in exchange for a visit with Williams after his arrest July 28.

That arrest followed by a few hours a stickup of the downtown Long Beach Western Union office, which Williams testified was staged at the invitation of an office employee who offered to split the take with him.

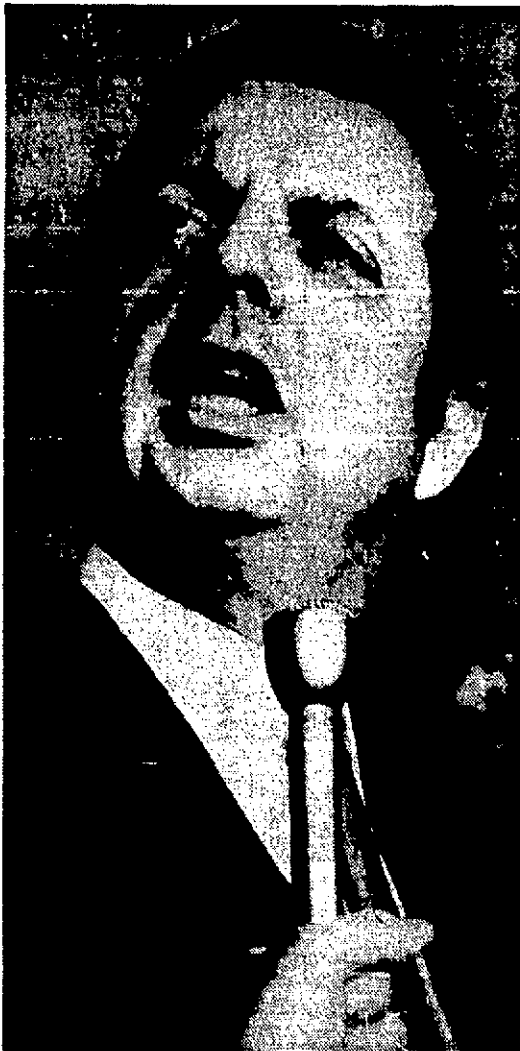

The gun, found in the bedroom of the Maine Avenue apartment manager's residence, was tabbed by police ballistics experts as the weapon from which the bullets which killed Jonasson were fired.

Williams denied he had been at the shooting scene and testified he had sold his .25-caliber automatic to a man named Steve Jackson in July.

He also denied being at any of the robbery scenes except the Western Union office Aug. 27.

Thomason's counsel, attorney Frank Weber, asked Judge George Stratton to order tests to determine if his client has the XYY chromosomes.

Judge Stratton will rule on that motion Monday, after which final arguments are scheduled to begin.

NEW FATHER Federal Fugitive Nabbed at Beach

By BOB GEIVET
Staff Writer

A Huntington Beach man who married a divorcee with one child, and became a father a few months ago, was unmasked Friday as a fugitive from Oklahoma.

Agents of the FBI said that William J. Wilson was a name assumed by Billy Joe Pearce, 40, who had been sought since he escaped from custody in Oklahoma City, Okla., in February 1966.

As Wilson, Pearce married and set up housekeeping at 10032 Kukui Drive, Huntington Beach.

The FBI agents seized him there, and booked him into the Orange County Jail at Santa Ana on a federal warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid serving a sentence.

U.S. Commissioner Arthur E. Bradley at Santa Ana ordered the suspect to be returned to Oklahoma City.

Authorities there said that Pearce had served 7½ years of a 20-year sentence for burglary, and was on parole when he was arrested on a burglary charge. He was shot in the leg in an alleged attempt to flee, and he escaped while under treatment in a hospital, they said.

Wesley G. Grapp, FBI special agent in charge, said that Pearce moved to Huntington Beach almost immediately, adopted an assumed name and then married. He was a programmer with a manufacturing plant.

Unions Vote 'Truce' Return to Shell Oil

By GEORGE LAINE
Staff Writer

Employees of six Shell Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers unions Friday voted — by a 5-2 margin — to return to work at their respective refineries and plants while negotiations on a new contract continue.

Shell was the last major oil company to reach accord — although an uneasy one — with OCAW.

The decision was described by union officials as "a cease fire, an opportunity to change the climate of the discussions."

Shell spokesmen said the strikers would be "certainly welcome" and said there would be no difficulty in the return to work of the 2,000 employees who have been on strike for 71 days.

"WE PLAN TO PULL our pickets off at 6 a.m. Monday," said Ray Davidson, a public relations official for OCAW. "The men will then start reporting for work at the approximate time of their normal shifts."

Davidson said the union was ready and willing to resume negotiations with Shell officials whenever the company wants a meeting. A company official said that negotiations would probably be resumed by midweek. The Shell aide said that three major areas of disagreement — disciplining of employees, vacation eligibility and work flexibility — still remain unresolved.

The six locals of OCAW which voted Friday brought back a 5-2 majority for returning to work; no figures on the vote total were made available, however.

WORKERS AT SHELL Chemical Company at Dominguez signed a new contract Friday that will send their 100-plus workers back to their jobs Sunday. The chemical plant had a separate contract and was not affected by the statewide ballot.

Shell officials said that they had "invited, by letter, all employees to return to work" during the negotiating period.

"We understand," the official said, "that they have voted to return. We will certainly welcome them when they do so."

Chicago Penalizes 43 Convention Policemen

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's police department has closed its inquiry into misconduct by policemen during the Democratic National Convention with penalties for 41 men, none of higher rank than sergeant.

Two of 43 cited for investigation resigned from the force during the inquiry. Thirty-five were suspended from duty for periods ranging from two to 30 days and six were disciplined. Five of those suspended face dismissal proceedings before the police board.

The six suspended police sergeants were relieved of duty for 15 days for failure to supervise properly men under their command.

Four policemen were suspended for at least 30 days, with a recommendation for dismissal, for improper use of force. Supt. James B. Conlisk said three of the four were accused of involvement in use of improper force against a Chicago News reporter.

Another was suspended for at least 30 days with a recommendation for dismissal for tampering with a camera carried by an unidentified citizen.

Eighteen were relieved of duty for from six to 12 days for failure to wear stars and nameplates. One was suspended for 15 days for unreasonably drawing his revolver and making threatening and derogatory remarks while questioning a citizen.

Two men were suspended for five days for not reporting they witnessed another officer violating department rules.

Three were sidelined for two days for failing to inventory property taken after an arrest.

Five policemen and one probationary policeman were given unfavorable mention in their personnel records. They had been accused of verbally abusing citizens during the convention.

Supt. Conlisk, who announced the last of the actions against members of his force, said the penalties are "indicative of the Chicago police department's determination to discipline any officer who violates department rules."

"I want to emphasize that these actions should not be construed as any reflection on the approximately 11,000 Chicago police officers who served this city with professionalism and dedication at all times during the difficult days of August," Conlisk said.

Joseph LeFevour, president of the Chicago branch of the Fraternal Order of Police, said he is pleased the investigation has ended "but it's strange to me that none of those cited for discipline was above the rank of sergeant."

"We are a semi-military group," LeFevour added. "The actions of the men in the ranks reflect the leadership of their officers."

Of the 35 men suspended six are sergeants. The book is not closed, however, insofar as the police are concerned. A federal grand jury has been investigating all aspects of violence and other disturbances during the convention but as yet no report from the grand jury is in sight.

A business executive in Bermuda wants to transform it into a tourist mecca. A caller from London thought the nearby town of Winterset, population 3,639, was for sale.

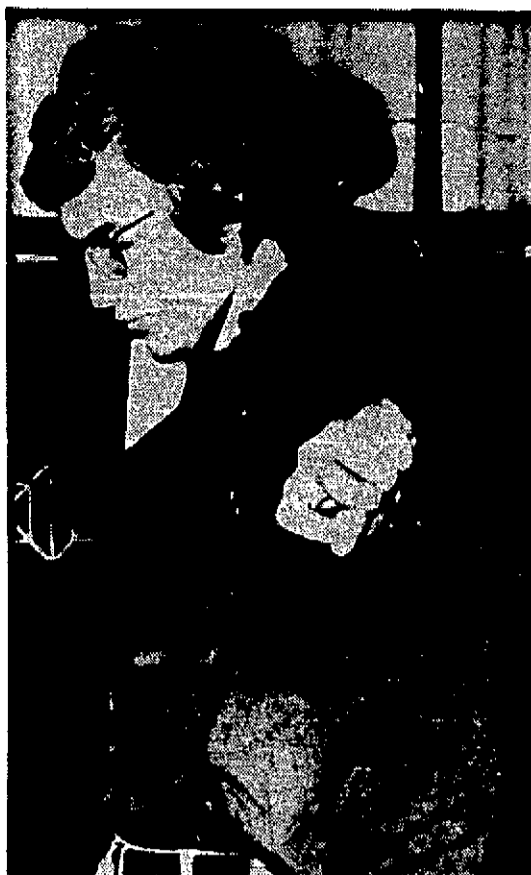

"Some people just want their own town," said Weeks, "and others want to get away from big city life. If you don't like crime, traffic jams, smog and high taxes, Podunk Center's definitely the place for you."

The unincorporated village, a long-time target of comedians, had a population of 21 in the early 1930s, but it now stands abandoned along U.S. Highway 169 southwest of Des Moines.

Mrs. Weeks said she is bewildered by all the hubbub.

"But with all the bad things going on in the world today, I guess this is pretty refreshing," she said.

KARL DIETRICH WOLFF WALKS OUT
Leftist Student Leaves Security Hearing

DENOUNCES U.S.

German Leftist, Thurmond Clash

WASHINGTON (AP) — A German leftist student walked out on the Senate internal security subcommittee Friday after an angry confrontation in which he used obscenities, called for a Communist victory in Vietnam and shouted insults at the chairman.

Karl Dietrich Wolff, 26, had been subpoenaed for questioning on how he entered the United States and his activities while here.

The bush-haired Wolff, wearing a short corduroy jacket and trousers, was accompanied to the hearing by 30 youths, also casually dressed, who served as a cheering section.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., was the only subcommittee member present. Jay Sourwine, chief counsel, did most of the questioning, with Wolff either ignoring or giving answers Thurmond said were not responsive.

The subcommittee is looking into campus disorder and violence as part of what it has called an investigation of the New Left political movement.

THE HEARING was scheduled to be closed but was opened to newsmen and public on Wolff's insistence.

"I will not confer with members of the U.S. ruling class in secret," he told Thurmond.

Wolff repeatedly referred to the members of the committee as "bandits" and, at one point, told Thurmond, "Don't he have like a bigot all the time."

The hearing broke up when Wolff launched into an attack on U.S. war policies, referring to the Southeast Asia conflict as "the liberation struggle of the Vietnamese people against the U.S. puppets."

When Thurmond told the stenographer to report the witness was yelling, Wolff stood up, put on his coat and walked out, followed by the youths who had accompanied him in.

THURMOND SAID he would discuss with the full committee what would be done next on Wolff's testimony.

Wolff is in the United States on a college campus speaking tour and spoke at George Washington University here Thursday.

He entered this country after receiving a U.S. visa on Jan. 13. It expires March 26.

Tricia Nixon Fooled by Autograph Seeker

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's daughter, Tricia, went to a reception for young Republicans Friday night and inadvertently gave her backing to one of the candidates in their nationwide election.

Miss Nixon was surrounded by autograph seekers at the reception for some 700 attending the three-day Young Republican Federation's leadership training school.

When a young man came by holding a baby, Tricia autographed a campaign sign the baby wore that said "I'll stick with Cotton."

Cotton is Ben Cotton, a 33-year-old Washington, D.C. attorney, who is running for president of the Young Republicans Federation against businessman Ron Romans, 31, of Ralston, Neb., in what is described basically as a popularity contest. Both were field men for Citizens for Nixon-Agnew in the 1968 campaign.

Cotton was Tricia's escort on a Potomac River campaign boat ride last summer.

The YRs have been holding sessions with some top Nixon administration officials among their speakers.

They invited the President's daughter to come by and meet many of the young people who worked in her father's campaign. Reporters at first were barred from the reception in the Shoreham Hotel, with the admonition that it was a "private party."

Photographers were barred entirely. The White House had announced Tricia's attendance and she said she did not know the press would be kept out.

She said she enjoyed her stint at autographing and laughingly described it as "good exercise."

Tricia said "These young people have done such a marvelous job. I remember how hard they were all working."

CLARK, WIDOW, GOVERNOR

High Level Maneuvers Preceded Ray's Plea

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Maneuvers which led James Earl Ray to change his plea to escape the electric chair in the slaying of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., began in mid-December and had the approval of U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington and Coretta King, widow of the Negro leader.

These details emerged in reconstructing the delicate negotiations that produced the agreement under which Ray came into court Monday, admitted slaying King and received a prison term of 99 years.

Had he gone to trial and been convicted, he could have been sentenced to death.

The failure of the case to go to trial produced some adverse reaction and added to arguments that a conspiracy was being ignored or covered up.

The agreement was first proposed in mid-December. There are two versions as to who acted first.

Shelby County Atty. Gen. Phil Canale, who was in charge of the prosecution spoke by telephone with the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Justice Department Dec. 19.

"IN THIS CALL, I outlined the procedures that would be involved under Tennessee law. The key points to the agreement were a plea of guilty and a sentence of 99 years. I wanted the department's views."

Canale said he acted on his own and that "from the standpoint of a prosecutor seeking a compromise, plea and punishment is the custom instead of the exception."

But Hugh Stanton, the public defender, said that on the basis of the defense investigation there was a solid feeling that Ray would risk getting the death penalty in a trial and that Stanton thought a deal could be made for a guilty plea and 99 years.

"I talked to Canale about this at least a week before Christmas, and as I remember, he said he wanted to check it out with his associates," Stanton said.

AN EFFORT to learn what Mrs. King's reactions would be was initiated Dec. 31. Canale spoke with New York lawyer Harry Wachtel, counsel for Mrs. King and Dr. King's family, and described the possible agreement. He also then aired it with Ellington, who said he had no objections.

On Jan. 3, Wachtel called Canale and told him that Mrs. King and others in the King family were "opposed in fact and in principle to capital punishment and would not wish to see Ray executed in the electric chair."

However, Wachtel emphasized that Mrs. King

wanted it made clear that this did not in any way mean she or the others in the family thought that Ray acted alone. Mrs. King remains convinced there was a conspiracy and after the Monday hearing, she said:

"THIS PLEA of guilty cannot be allowed to close the case or to end the search for many fingers which helped pulled the trigger." Notes describing Canale's telephone calls, as well as information from attorney Wachtel's New York office, confirmed that Mrs. King was informed of the potential agreement and apparently had approved it.

That same day, Jan. 3, Canale spoke with the Justice Department and was informed that the plan had been discussed with Atty. Gen. Clark and that such a procedure had his approval.

Extradition OK'd in Florida Kidnap

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Ruth Eisemann-Schier, a nervous young woman listed for three months among the FBI's top 10 fugitives, was ordered returned Friday to Florida to face federal charges in the kidnapping and live burial of Miami heiress Barbara Mackle.

She will be escorted to Florida by a team of U.S. marshals for prosecution on three charges. Washington officials who coordinate the transportation of prisoners were notified of the order and Chief Deputy Marshal Mike McGrew of Oklahoma City said it probably will take one or two weeks to complete the move.

Miss Eisemann-Schier 26, arrested in Norman, Okla., March 5, was ordered extradited to Florida by U.S. Dist. Judge Luther Bohanon on the basis of the findings of the U.S.

Commissioner James L. Gullett.

Gullett presided over a long removal hearing Thursday during which the pale, frail Miss Eisemann-Schier twice collapsed and had to be attended by a nurse.

The Honduras-born defendant is charged with extortion, interstate transportation in aid of racketeering and aiding and abetting Gary Steven Krist in abducting Miss Mackle Dec. 17 from an Atlanta, Ga., motel where she was recuperating from flu.

Miss Mackle was buried in a provisioned capsule on a remote Georgia hillside while her kidnapers demanded $500,000 from her construction-executive father. After one abortive attempt to pay the ransom, the $500,000 was paid. Most of it was found later when Krist was captured in a Florida swamp.

Cuba, Red Asia Travel Ban Will Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department announced Friday it is extending for six months its general ban on travel by Americans to Red China, North Vietnam, North Korea and Cuba.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers acted under regulations which would have ended the department's off-limits designation entirely by midnight Saturday unless he decided otherwise.

The State Department also had the option of continuing the travel restrictions for a full year or for part of a year. Thus the decision for only a six-month extension, officials indicated, means the Nixon administration intends to take a thorough look at U.S. travel ban policy.

Restriction on travel by U.S. citizens to hostile Communist areas has been a feature of U.S. policy during the years of the cold war. However, U.S. court decisions have whittled away the government's power to enforce proclaimed travel bans.

The Nixon administration decision on the travel ban issue had been awaited by those scanning for clues to whether the new Washington leadership would tend toward a hard or a soft line in foreign policy.

Those for ending the off-limits list argued that U.S. citizens have a constitutional right to travel and that unauthorized visits by Americans to the prohibited areas have not caused foreign policy problems for the United States.

Opponents of lifting the ban contended that Communist Asia and Cuba are still hostile to the United States and that visiting U.S. citizens could get into difficulties drawing the U.S. into clashes with the Communist regimes. While the travel bans are not enforceable, they contended, the State Department's continuation of them would still have a restraining effect on many Americans who might otherwise go to the banned areas.

Chicago Bomb a Dud; Bag Had No Explosive

CHICAGO (AP) — The Civic Center Plaza, at the heart of the city's government, was cleared Friday because of a bomb scare that turned out to be a dud.

Police and firemen herded pedestrians off the plaza at Clark and Washington Streets across the street from the City Hall. The reason was fear that

Medicare Drug-Aid Studied

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A Johnson administration recommendation that would provide for coverage of self-administered prescription drugs under Medicare will be examined by a committee of non-government experts.

Secretary Robert H. Finch of Health, Education and Welfare wants to know what the medical profession, pharmacists, the drug industry, economists and consumer groups think of the idea before he approves it.

Finch inherited the recommendation from his predecessor, Wilbur J. Cohen, through a HEW task force on prescription drugs. Its final report was made public Saturday.

"The whole subject of prescription drugs is vitally important to the people of this country," Finch said.

"I want to be absolutely certain that the department does everything in its power to make sure that the American people are receiving the best drugs obtainable at the most reasonable cost."

HICK TOWN ON SALE BLOCK

Podunk Center Offers Soar

PODUNK CENTER, Iowa (AP) — With offers pouring in from as far away as England, the sale price of the All-American hick town, Podunk Center, is going up and up.

"Things are getting a bit out of hand," said owner Homer Weeks, "but a owner Homer Weeks, "but not to take advantage of it."

Weeks put his one-acre town up for sale last week. For generations the symbol of small-town America, it consisted of a cafe, filling station and grocery store — all under one roof — and a four-unit motel.

The price was set originally at $7,000, but offers had reached $12,000 by Friday, with no end in sight.

"A few have said they'll top all other offers," said Weeks.

People from 25 states, England, Canada and Bermuda have telephoned or written about purchasing it. Buyers from as far away as New York and California were scheduled to fly in this weekend. A man from Los Angeles said he wants to put Ireland's last steam engine at Podunk Center. Another wants to make the hamlet a memorial for a buddy killed in World War II.

A business executive in Bermuda wants to transform it into a tourist mecca. A caller from London thought the nearby town of Winterset, population 3,639, was for sale.

Legislators Differ on ABM Plan

By BAXTER OMOHUNDRO
From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — California congressional reaction to President Nixon's antiballistic missile proposal Friday ranged from enthusiastic endorsement to charges that it is "ill advised."

But most of the opinion expressed by Golden State solons ranged in between.

The widest gap was in the Senate, where the decision is in doubt, as the system was endorsed by Republican Sen. George Murphy and denounced by Democratic Sen. Alan Cranston.

Murphy called it "a good, solid position" that puts the United States on record that "we'll be prepared without being silly about it." He particularly praised proposals for periodic reassessment while continuing research on the system.

CRANSTON, WHO previously had not made his position clear on the basic deployment question, called it "ill advised and ill timed." He said he earlier had privately urged Nixon not to proceed with any deployment until after disarmament talks with the Soviets.

Rep. Chet Holifield, D-Montebello, supported the placement of the system around strategic bases and lauded Nixon for abandoning a plan to emplace it in heavily populated areas.

Holifield, chairman of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee and the military operations subcommittee, was publicly praised by Nixon for a suggestion he made Friday morning that the administration examine our civil defense posture. He later telephoned his thanks to Holifield for the suggestion made at a White House meeting prior to the presidential press conference and reiterated his plans for such an examination.

HOLIFIELD SAID the announced deployment is "probably the wisest decision he could take at this time."

Dovish Rep. Don Edwards, D-San Jose, expressed satisfaction that the Nixon plan represents a de-escalation of the wider plan that had been approved by the Johnson administration. But he said he is disappointed that Nixon didn't postpone deployment while seeking "new approaches" to the Soviets for disarmament.

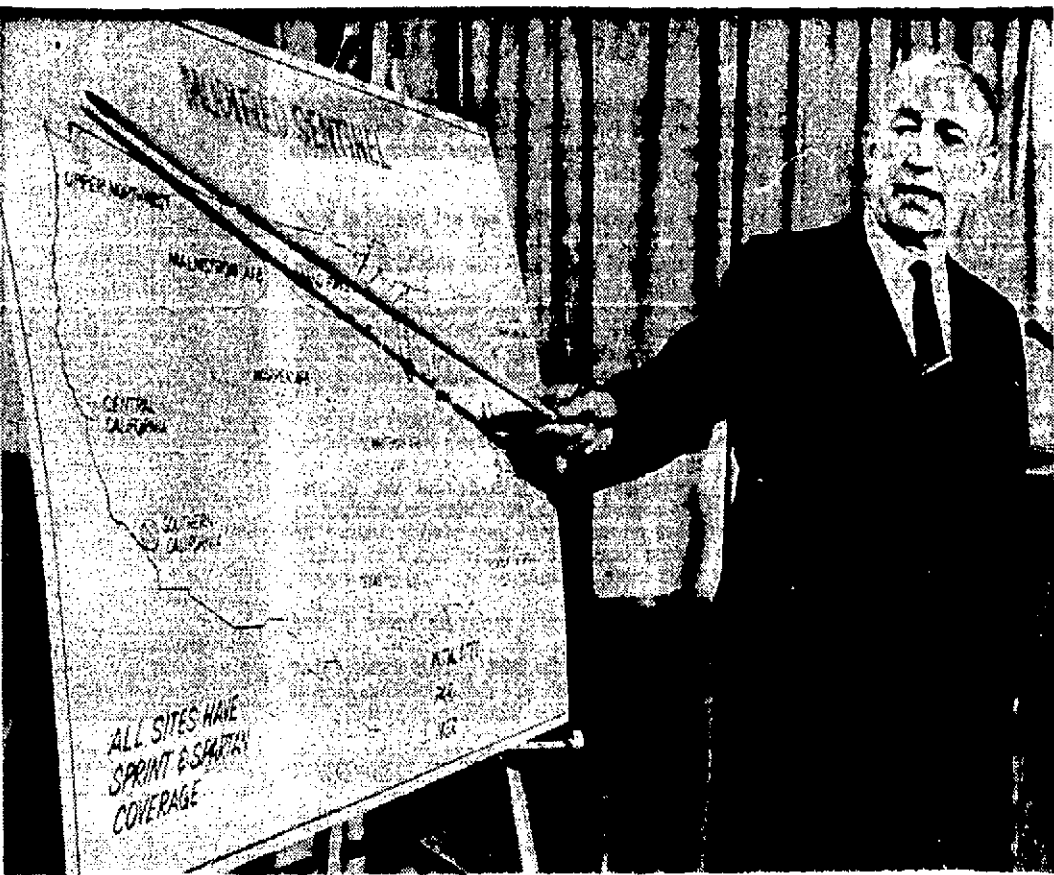

Another dove, Rep. George Brown, D-Monterey Park, said he is flatly opposed to any ABM deployment.

Rep. Glenard Lipscomb, R-Alhambra, ranking GOP member on the defense appropriations subcommittee, and a close associate of Defense Secretary Melvin Laird, called it "in the best interest of our national security and welfare."

REP. CHARLES GUBSER, R-Gilroy, a member of the Armed Services Committee, backed the deployment, but suggested that the funds might be better spent in weapons such as the Polaris submarine missile system.

Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Long Beach, ranking minority member of the Joint Atomic Energy Committee who attended the President's briefing declared: "The President's decision clearly is a defensive move, like the putting of anti-aircraft batteries on a battleship in an earlier day."

Rep. H. Allen Smith, R-Glenale, said he still is studying the system but favors any effective method for assuring adequate defense against Communist aggression.

U.S. Plans Exercise at Korea Line

SEOUL, Saturday (UPI) — Korean and U.S. airborne troops Saturday began the largest "direct" paratroop maneuver in history amid signs of increased tension along the nearby Korean truce front.

The war game involving 7,000 U.S. and South Korean troops will be begun on schedule 40 miles south of Seoul "under a modified plan which reduces troop movements and other buildup-type things," a military spokesman said.

THE MILITARY had indicated earlier the exercise might have to be delayed a day because of muddy ground.

Some 700 paratroopers from the 32nd U.S. Airborne Division at Fort Bragg, N.C., will be air-dropped directly into the exercise area Sunday morning after a 31-hour flight from Fort Bragg. In all, 2,500 men from the division will participate along with 4,500 Korean troops.

The war games will be staged only 85 miles from the border dividing North and South Korea.

Pancake Champion Keeps Title

Chapman College student Louis Lebherz, 20, gnawed his way through "the worst pancakes I've ever eaten" to retain his international title Friday in the first annual Southern California Intercollegiate Pancake Eating Contest at the University of California, Irvine.

Lebherz, of La Jolla, consumed 205 dollar-sized pancakes — with the assistance of his girlfriend and munching partner, Chapman student Loretta Dietrich, 18, of Whittier.

They were among 18 contestants from Chapman, UCI and California State College at Long Beach who were cheered on by a crowd of about 200 persons at the UCI dormitory cafeteria.

LEBHERZ, who complained the pancakes were too thick, consumed 310 flapjacks during a contest at Chapman last year in which he was named international collegiate pancake eating champ.

Frank Franklin, 22, of Watts, and teammate Nancy Kyle, 17, of San Francisco, both UCI students, placed second in the contest, and CSLB students Richard Salisbury, 20, and Marilyn Kohl, 18, both of Long Beach, placed third.

ABM APPROVAL SEEN

B. Johnson recommended for the year beginning July 1.

But Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., former secretary of the Air Force and a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in an interview that if cuts of this kind are made they will strike at vital procurement needs.

"THEY ARE LIKELY to come out of programs that are a lot more necessary to our national security than this Sentinel system," he said.

Symington said in a statement that while Nixon's proposal was a "far cry" from the system proposed by the Johnson administration "this now decided-upon costly deployment will not improve our security and could work against that security."

Nixon's decision was reported to have been supported to have been supported.

MOSCOW (NYTS) — President Nixon's decision to order the deployment of a scaled-down antiballistic missile system brought no immediate reaction from the Soviet Union.

ported at the White House meeting by Speaker of the House John W. McCormack, D-Mass., House Majority Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma, and Rep. L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., head of the House Armed Services Committee.

Among Senators who spoke up in support of the Nixon proposal were Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Appropriations Committee, and John Stennis, D-Miss., head of the Armed Services Committee.

Among Republican leaders, Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, head of Senate GOP Conference, alone was said to have expressed reservations about the program.

FROM THE DEMOCRATIC side there were some reactions with a bipartisan barb. Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota said this is the President's "first serious mistake."

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota described the President's decision as "the first major blunder of his administration."

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts said that the President had "missed a number of important opportunities to advance our common cause of peace in the world and our goal of improving the quality of life of all Americans."

Nixon asserted the $6 billion to $7 billion ABM system he approved "is vital for the security and defense of the United States and also in the interest of peace throughout the world."

His long-awaited decision, which followed a five-week review of the Johnson administration's Sentinel ABM plan, was announced at a White House news conference.

Stressing the defensive character of the ABM, Nixon said the Soviets are defense-minded and understand this and he said they cannot regard deployment of the ABM as an escalation of the arms race.

NIXON STRESSED that the revamped Sentinel — with only two sites, at the start, near U.S. missile bases rather than 15 batteries mostly near cities — will be designed to protect this country's nuclear striking force.

This missile-bomber force, according to U.S. doctrine, deters Russia from hitting the United States.

The Red Chinese are expected to be able to mount up to 30 intercontinental ballistic missiles by 1975. Their warhead, possibly ranging up to the equivalent of three million tons of TNT, could lay waste U.S. cities.

But Army and Defense Department experts contend the Chinese state of umbrella defense built around long-range missile killers could shield population centers even from remote bases.

This is not so where the sophisticated Russian threat is concerned. The Soviets are believed to have just about caught up with the United States in ICBMs and are said to be straining to pull even in submarine-launched missiles.

The first two sites will be placed at Malstrom Air Force Base in Montana and Grand Forks Air Force Base in North Dakota, locations of Minuteman missile wings.

McDIVITT was first off the plane. He hopped down the stairs two steps at a time toward his eldest daughter, Ann, 10, who ran to meet him and threw herself into his arms.

Ann, a cute little blonde, burst into tears of joy.

Scott and Schweickart walked more slowly down behind the Apollo 9 commander, waving to the cheering crowd. A brass band blared martial music into 25-mile-per-hour wind gusts.

By EDWARD K. DELONG

ELLINGTON AFB, Houston (UPI) — The Apollo 9 astronauts came home to Houston in a red, white and blue airplane Friday from "a beautiful flight" that cleared Americans to land on the moon this summer.

James A. McDivitt, David R. Scott and Russell L. (Rusty) Schweickart touched down at Ellington Air Force Base near the space center early in the evening. A crowd of about 200 persons had been waiting in a chill, biting wind for more than two hours to greet them.

"There is no place as beautiful and welcome as home," Schweickart said.

The astronauts spent Thursday night on the carrier Guadalcanal, which plucked them out of the ocean Thursday, and then flew in helicopters and a National Aeronautics and Space Agency turboprop to Houston with a refueling stop at Cape Kennedy.

It was the final and happiest leg of the 10-day space voyage which started March 3 at the cape. During 151 orbits around the earth, the astronauts test-flew the bug-like U.S. lunar lander and proved it out for moon flight.

But, like any travelers who leave the country, they had a date with a customs agent who boarded the airplane in Cape Kennedy for the flight to Houston. And like any fathers they stayed "off the hook" with their kids by bringing back presents.

McDIVITT was first off the plane. He hopped down the stairs two steps at a time toward his eldest daughter, Ann, 10, who ran to meet him and threw herself into his arms.

Ann, a cute little blonde, burst into tears of joy.

Scott and Schweickart walked more slowly down behind the Apollo 9 commander, waving to the cheering crowd. A brass band blared martial music into 25-mile-per-hour wind gusts.

The astronauts spent eight minutes clustered with wives, children, fellow spacemen and space agency officials under the left wing of the plane. In the group were all three of the astronauts of Apollo 8 which orbited the moon last Christmas—Frank Borman, James Lovell and William Anders.

McDivitt kissed his wife Pat several times and then gave Scott's wife and Schweickart's wife a couple of quick pecks. Then he strode toward a microphone.

"Hello," he shouted with a big wave of his right hand. "We're sort of always dressed wrong. Yesterday, it was about 80 degrees when we splashed down and we were each wearing two pairs of long underwear."

"Today, we needed them, and look what we've got on."

ALL THREE astronauts were wearing thin blue NASA flight covers and the black-and-gold baseball-type pilots' caps they were given by the crew of the Guadalcanal.

"We've been gone a long time," McDivitt said. "It was the ninth of February, I think, when I said goodbye to my family (and left for Cape Kennedy for final pre-flight preparations)."

Scott stepped to the microphone, his face flushed red in the cold wind.

"I don't think we ever had so many things work so well together," he said. "It was all because everybody did his job."

Schweickart said there had been many beautiful sights for the crew during the last two days, "not the least of which was the drogue and main parachutes" which blossomed over Apollo 9 and lowered it gently into the ocean.

"We had a beautiful mission," Schweickart said. "I just want you to know there is no place as beautiful and welcome as home."

ON A trailer-truck in front of the microphone the astronauts used were Lynn and Sue Rantal, 16-year-old twin girls who sometimes babysit for McDivitt and Schweickart.

They had made their own award for the astronauts — a three-foot-high paper mache model of the cartoon character "Snoopy" dressed as an astronaut and carrying a space helmet in one hand and an American flag in the other.

In their 10 days aboard Apollo 9, they proved the spiderlike moon landing craft — which McDivitt and Schweickart were the first men to fly in space — is ready to go to the moon.

Their flight cleared the way for Apollo 10 to orbit within 50,000 feet of the moon in May and for Apollo 11 to try a landing in July.

The astronauts returned to American soil at the Cape Kennedy moonport within sight of the launch pad where they blasted off March 3. About 500 technicians who readied their rocket for flight and now are working on Apollo 10 greeted them with cheers.

THE BEARDED IRIS — Goddess of the Rainbow in Pagan Greece

By JOE LITTLEFIELD

The iris, native to the Mediterranean region and Southern Europe, was considered by ancient Egyptians as a symbol of power and placed on the brow of the Sphinx. Throughout the centuries it was placed on the sceptors of kings and rulers, because the three large petals of the iris symbolized faith, wisdom, and valor. This multicolored flower was named after Iris, the Greek Goddess of the multicolored rainbow, the swift-footed messenger of Zeus and Hera.

The Greeks planted irises on the graves of women, because one of the duties of Iris was that of leading the souls of the dead women to the Elysian Fields.

ACCORDING TO the French historical lore, the iris was the flower symbol of Gaul as far back as the first Century A.D., when Clovis the first King of the Franks, and founder of the Merovingian dynasty, defeated the Alemanni in the Battle of Tolbiac (496 A.D.), his victorious soldiers crowned themselves with irises blooming near the battlefield; but not before the time of Charles IV (1294-1328) did the iris adorn the banner of France.

The name, Fleur-De-Lis was derived from Loys, in which manner the first twelve Louis, kings of France, up to Louis the XIII (1462-1515), signed their name.

By now no doubt, you can understand why Iris, and particularly the pogon-iris (bearded), as well as the beardless and other kinds continue to be popular perennial plants in many gardens due to the wide range of colors, their hardiness, tolerance to various kinds of soils, and minimum culture care requirements. Some varieties of flowers are fragrant, others are remonant — repeat bloomers, flowering in the fall season again in the spring.

Inspect the base of iris leaves where they fan out from one central area. See if there are any aphids congregated in the slightly hollow leaf bases. Spray with insecticide if any pests are present. You'll effect maximum-kill of those pests in one spraying because they are concentrated usually in one area instead of few scattered over the leaves.

Iris are not happy if they grow in a heavy clay soil, and if the rhizomes which are thick horizontal root-like stems that send forth leaves from upper side, and roots downward from under side are covered by soil. They might not bloom. Worse still too much moisture might cause the leaves to have brown spots, and the rhizome may have a rot, which eventually kills the plant. The rhizome top surface should be uncovered and plant watered only as needed.

INSPECT THE young (stools) new shoots growth of chrysanthemums. Sometimes massee Agapanthus is commonly known as Lily of the Nile, African Lily, and the name is from the Greek signifying (agape—"love," and (anthos—"flower"), Love Flower. You too will like this plant tucked here and there in the sunny flower bed areas or edging a driveway or walk.

DO IT NOW

Clivia hybrids furnish vivid orange blossoms in March. These plants make excellent potted plant specimens. You can depend upon clivias to produce some bloom in March.

Fertilize your dichondra lawn now with a dichondra fertilizer, preferably one that contains a soil pest insecticide control. The insecticide control is to combat the vicious cutworms. Be sure the lawn soil is well soaked beforehand. Wait until moisture has thoroughly dried on the leaves before you fertilize. After feeding, wash the fertilizer thoroughly off the leaves, but don't continue to soak the lawn. Wait a day, no longer than two days, then thoroughly soak the lawn and keep it moist for a couple of days. By applying the fertilizer with insecticide in this manner, you'll give the insecticide material a chance to work in the area of soil where cutworms are nesting and already feeding.

of aphids attack the foliage and cause a stunted growth. Gardener can't detect those damaging pests unless he stoops down and closely inspects the foliage. Spray the plants if any pests are found on them. Scatter an effective snail-slug bait too.

Now's about the last opportunity for you to purchase bare root roses, or fruit — shade, or flowering trees, as well as cane berries, strawberries, vegetables and perennials, because the nurseries are beginning to can and pot those plants. A few weeks later on, when they've become established in the containers, they'll cost more money. Unless you have a money tree, you'd better hurry up and buy those plants and set them out right away!

Old established rose bush flower stems generally are cut back to within three buds of where they grew out from the previous branch cutbacks. Notice that critical area before you cut the stems. Some branch bases may have two or three buds (nodes) within a half to inch height area. If such is the case, count those thick clustered buds as a unit of one, then count up two more buds that usually are spaced a longer distance apart.

Just before you cut that rose stem above the bud, observe it in relation to the nearest branch on either side of it. If one of the branches is spaced some distance from it, and the other is closer, cut the flower stem above a bud that is facing nearest the wider-spaced branch even though the bud may not be the third bud. It might be the second one or the fourth. Reason for this critical flower stem cutting is to help balance the branches' spacing which helps to shape the rose bush.

Always cut the flower stems above a selected bud on a downward slant. This forces the new branch to grow upward with longer flower stem, instead of slanting outward.

Q. — My pomegranate tree has not produced fruit for two years. Now it is starting to bud. Should I cut out some of the dead parts, and how should it be fertilized at this time?

A. — Yes, cut out all the dead branches. Feed it an all-purpose complete plant food. Read directions on back of fertilizer sack label for amount to use. If still not sure, ask your nurseryman when purchasing the plant food.

Q. — My agapanthus (Lily of the Nile) in partial shade doesn't bloom. Should I cut them back now? How do I feed them?

A. — Transplant agapanthus to full sun in area where you can control the water. Water them deeply as they thirst, then no more until they need it again. Forget about feeding them after transplanting. Two months later, feed them some fertilizer as you feed your pomegranate.

Q. — My aphelandra still drops its leaves I need your advice.

A. — Aphelandra thrives best indoors among other house plants, provided it isn't in a drafty location. Grown outdoors it must be put in a wind-free protected area, well shaded.

Q. — My 10-year-old avocado tree each year is loaded with blossoms but most fall off as does the fruit after they form. How or what can I do to realize most fruit? Also, what is the best time to prune an avocado?

A. — Fertilize the tree with a general all-purpose plant food that contains less nitrogen and more phosphoric acid. Fruit trees of any kind generally produce fruit much better if growing in the open ground, and not in a lawn, or surrounded by a matted ground cover. Avocado trees are not pruned except where branches need to be shaped, or dead branches cut out. Branches should grow near the ground in order to shade the tree roots.

Marijuana Can Facilitate Violence, Doctor Writes

A new book by a medical authority contends that marijuana facilitates violence and should by no means be legalized.

Author is Dr. Edward R. Bloomquist, Glendale, chairman of the California Interagency Council on Drug Abuse and co-chairman of the California Medical Association's committee on narcotics and dangerous drugs.

In the book, entitled "Marijuana," published by Glencoe Press, he states:

"Users of high concentrations of cannabis (marijuana) may become violent because of their inability to control hostile, paranoid and sometimes homicidal trends."

HE ALSO says:

"Cannabis releases inhibitions and impairs judgment with such regular predictability that a user with criminal tendencies will readily commit crimes under the influence..."

Dr. Bloomquist contends that marijuana "may confuse the mind, impair judgment, distort perception, increase suggestibility, weaken will power and diminish the faculty of self-criticism to the extent that many times the user may arrive at the inaccurate conclusion that he belongs to a superior order of beings."

Lab 'Potheads' Don't Get High

What is said to be the first controlled study of marijuana-smoking has come up with this preliminary finding:

Marijuana is a relatively mild intoxicant with minor, short-lived effects.

The study was conducted in the Behavioral Pharmacology Laboratory of Boston University School of Medicine. Subjects were nine young men who smoked marijuana for the first time and eight who were regular users.

No adverse reactions were observed.

First-time users did not get high but showed impairment in performance of simple tests. Chronic users showed no impairment in test performance.

Researchers detected a slight increase in heart rate and a reddening of the eyes. There was no change in the size of the pupil of the eye.

Details are in a recent issue of the journal Science.

Marijuana Headache Remedy?

Marijuana may be a good headache remedy, according to Dr. Tod H. Mikuriya, a former researcher at the National Institute of Mental Health.

The doctor, now a consultant to Alameda County Health Department, says marijuana preparations are not only useful as pain-killers but have other "therapeutic applications," according to a United Press International news story out of Palo Alto.

In a speech at a seminar, Dr. Mikuriya suggested that possession of two ounces or less of marijuana should not be punishable and that each family should be permitted to grow 100 marijuana plants a year.

"The use of criminal penalties against users is socially wasteful, unjust and ineffective," he said.

the Long Beach Community Welfare Council, will be conducted at the Psychiatric Clinic for Children, 5887 Atlantic Ave.

It will be staffed by psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers, with youngsters meeting with them twice weekly. Officials estimate the drug-abuse clinic will be able to handle 24 new cases a month.

At California State College at Long Beach, Dr. John W. Shainline, assistant dean of students, heads a committee on drug-abuse education. The committee, which includes administrators, faculty members and students, has been presenting programs in residence halls and to various organizations both on and off campus. Committee members also act as consultants to school districts.

Dr. Shainline and Dr. George D. Demos, dean of students, are authors of a 23-page booklet, "Drug Abuse and You," a highly informative discussion of the problem.

A GROUP called DARE, begun at UCLA, serves Greater Long Beach and other areas. DARE — acronym for Drug Abuse Research and Education Services — consists of student volunteers, youngsters who have not used drugs, who work to correct the problem of adolescent drug abuse.

A spokesman for DARE says there may be as many as 30 self-help programs in the Southland — programs with names such as Teen Challenge and Smart Set.

For former narcotic addicts (mainly heroin), there's a Long Beach office of the Narcotic Addict Outpatient Program, at 222 E. Third St. It's part of the California Department of Corrections.

Here, state parole agents work with "releasers" from California Rehabilitation Center, Corona. Former addicts meet weekly in groups to discuss their problems.

Nine agents currently are aiding 341 persons in the area south of Artesia Boulevard and west of the Orange County line.

A new telephone service — "Operation Hotline" — is available for consultation about dangerous drugs, thanks to the Civic Responsibility Committee, a citizen's advisory group in the Cerritos College area.

The telephone (UN 3-4701) takes messages 24 hours a day and is designed to serve mainly persons living in Lakewood, Artesia, Bellflower, Cerritos, Downey, Norwalk, La Mirada, Hawaiian Gardens and Santa Fe Springs.

Government Grows 'Top Secret' Pot

The government is going to grow its own marijuana.

No, Uncle Sam is not going to pot. He wants it for research.

The National Institute of Mental Health has let a contract to the Research Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences at the University of Mississippi in Oxford. About five varieties of marijuana will be grown on up to 10 acres at a "top-secret" location.

Purpose of all this: Marijuana seized in raids varies too much in quality, toxicity and strength for proper research, authorities say.

Empty Pails and Prevent Mosquitoes!

Dr. Gerald A. Heidbreder, Los Angeles County health officer, Friday urged homeowners to take steps to prevent mosquito problems arising from recent rains.

He noted that mosquitoes often breed in rain-filled pails, used tires, empty cans — as well as toys and children's pools.

Dr. Heidbreder said that now is a good time for residents to look around the outside of their homes and turn over or put away items that contain standing water.

Park Repair Tab at Least $700,000

(From Our State Bureau)

SACRAMENTO — At least $700,000 will be needed to restore state park system facilities damaged by "oil, snow, and floods" before they can open this year, the state park and recreation commission was told Friday.

Parks and recreation director William Penn Mott said that many beaches and parks will open late.

"We're trying for an Easter week opening for the beaches," he said, "but they're not in first class shape."

"The Sierra parks will open late because of the heavy snowpack. It's a very trying situation at all parks."

He said the $700,000 figure "is just an estimate on identifiable repair work that has to be done. The damage to the ecology and the scenery is impossible to estimate."

Mott glumly said that there was concern that a sudden onset of warm spring weather may bring on floods which would cause further damage to parks, particularly in central and northern California.

He said snow removal at Squaw Valley had already cost $35,000.

Debris at Southern California beaches, the most heavily damaged, is not being removed as fast as it might, Mott said, because it absorbs part of the oil slick still spreading in the area.

FOINE WEATHER

came an appeal for assistance from persons or organizations having records of heavy rainfall or snowfall — particularly for the period Feb. 23 through 28.

In its official appeal, the bureau said an emergency situation still exists in many parts of the state — including San Francisco Bay area, Lake Tahoe and southward through Orange and Riverside counties.

Six specific items of data were requested, to be forwarded to the U.S. Weather Bureau, Room 557, 50 Fulton St., San Francisco:

Observer's name and address, location of the observation site in latitude and longitude if possible, elevation, type and diameter of rain (snow) gauge, time of observation, dates and amounts of precipitation.

It is understood the Weather Bureau's findings will be meshed with those of other concerned agencies, including the Metropolitan Flood Control District, in an effort to work out solutions that will minimize the potential flooding from snow run-offs.

SNOW: IS the heaviest recorded this century in many areas, including the High Sierra, and close to record depths in Southland ranges. As of Friday night, following departure of the latest storm system eastward, on-the-ground measurements included three feet each at Big Bear Lake and Lake Arrowhead, almost nine feet at Mt. Baldy Notch, better than six feet at Palm Springs Tramway.

The just-departed storm added several inches to snowpacks, and closed several access roads at higher elevations. Angeles Crest Highway was blocked for several miles at about the 6,000-foot level as of late Friday, and sections of the Sierra are unreachable except by aircraft.

about 45 Mexican American students crowded into the principal's office at Roosevelt High School, renewing student strife that struck the city's schools Monday following a student demonstration at Carver Junior High School that was broken up by police March 7.

The Roosevelt students demanded a Mexican-American principal for the school, a Mexican American curriculum and removal of "racist" teachers and police and began an "indefinite" sit-in.

At Carver, meanwhile, a group of Negro students who said they were members of the Black Students Union and "Black Students Alliance," took over the public address system with permission of school authorities.

"This school is now in the hands of the community," said a BSA member who identified himself as "Jabali."

"HONORARY TEACHERS will now take over," he said.

The "honorary teachers," already in the classrooms told students the demonstration showed "how the community can control the schools and eventually will."

After about 20 minutes the demonstrators left without incident.

Nearly 80 per cent of Carver's pupils were still absent following a boycott called after the removal of a BSU member who refused to leave the campus.

That incident flared into a sit-in and later spread to other city schools, including Los Angeles City College, scene of a BSU-Students, and a disturbance at Society-led demonstration broken up by other students, and disturbance at East Los Angeles College.

FREEMAN TOLD POLICE he was standing with some friends in the church parking lot when he heard shots, and was then killed.

Witnesses said they saw a man with a pistol fleeing the area and that he had been standing with a group of Negroes sporting shaved heads, a trademark of US, led by Karenga, whose real name is Ronald McKinley Everett.

Mejia said police were on standby alert and wanted to find the US members before the Panthers did.

The Council of Black Administrators, made up of Negro school leaders, issued a statement declaring it does "not support the activist groups in their efforts in current school crisis to close down the schools."

Guard Released in College Death

By BOB ANDREWS Staff Writer

Militant black students at Pepperdine College escalated their list of demands Friday in a press release issued about the same time a campus guard from Long Beach was released on $5,000 bond in the shotgun death of a 15-year-old Negro boy on the campus Wednesday night.

Charles Lane, 60, suspended chief security officer of the college, had been booked at 77th Street Station on a murder charge in the slaying of Larry Kimmons of 1607 W. 81st St., Los Angeles.

A CORONER'S inquest into the death will be held March 24 at 10 a.m. in room 150 of the Los Angeles Hall of Justice.

The Black Student Union issued a list of 12 demands which it presented to Dr. M. Norvell Young, president of the college. These included the dismissal of seven members of the faculty and staff for alleged racism and disarming of campus security officers.

Dr. Young's only comment on the new list of demands was that the administration would consult with the board of trustees, faculty, students and representatives of the BSU to "work toward solutions in a fair and Christian attitude."

During an assembly Thursday with 1,200 of the college's 1,600 students present, Dr. Young granted nearly all of the BSU's first round of demands, including the dismissal of classes until Monday, guarantee of scholarships for the dead boy's brother and sister and obtaining "a delay in his brother's shipment to Vietnam."

CONGRESSMAN Glenn Anderson obtained a 30-day extension on James Kimmons induction notice. He was scheduled to enter the Army Wednesday.

No Los Angeles police have been permitted on the campus at the college's request since Lane was arrested. However, other members of the campus security detail are continuing to patrol in plain clothes.

Ned Nelson, law partner of Grant Cooper, has been retained as Lane's prime defense counsel for the March 24 coroner's inquest.

Nelson said Friday evening that his client would make no statement before the inquest and would not return to his Long Beach home at this time.

Deputy Dist. Atty. James J. Shea said the inquest "would allow a public airing of the case to objectively determine the proper charge, if any, that should be filed against Mr. Lane."

Police reported the shooting occurred Wednesday night when Kimmons and four friends had gone to the college to play basketball.

As the boys were leaving, Lane stopped them. He laid a shotgun on his car when he attempted to handcuff the Kimmons youth. The boy backed away and Lane picked up his weapon which discharged killing the boy, police said.

UC Truce 'Gratifies' Governor

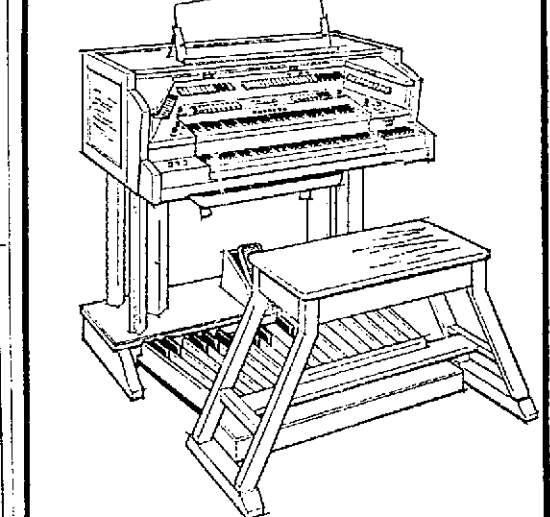

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Ronald Reagan said Friday he is "gratified" that student strikers on the University of California's Berkeley campus are "finally willing to go inside and talk as they always should have."

Leaders of the campus Third World Liberation Front announced Friday they were suspending strike activities, although the strike would continue. Earlier, striking teaching assistants declared their own strike was ended.

"I'm not at all surprised about the end of the so-called teachers' strike," Reagan told newsmen as he prepared to leave for Los Angeles for the week-end. "It was rather evident they were striking in name only. They were continuing to hang onto their jobs by leaving the picket line to teach their classes."

Carl Mark, Third World spokesman, said the strike activity was suspended to "reaffirm our commitment to negotiate an orderly settlement to our strike and implement our demands."

PRISCILLA'S POP

YOUR HOROSCOPE by JEANE DIXON

Forecast for Sunday

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Keep your feet out in public view all day to avoid being misunderstood. Share in the community expression of faith in the morning. Get extra rest, as tomorrow tends to require too condition.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): It is difficult to remember that those thought to be friends are not actually dedicated to help you. Specifically, money and friends do not mix in such cases.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Anything you do is going to be conspicuous today, so you might as well put on your very best clothing, make as much fuss as you feel like, and enjoy yourself. A bit of display shouldn't hurt you; this is the day for it.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Take your loved ones out for explorations during the day, and amusement in the evening, so when you do get home tonight it will be with a sense of adventure achieved.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Your temper is the worst factor today. If you will hold it in its ways, you will be much further ahead. Take the trouble to be a gracious host during the later hours.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Concentrate on the process of unending, less the tension of the times under your health maintenance. Use this chance for a good family-at-home sort of day. Begin a new diet.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Whether to get involved in other people's squabbles today? No lasting progress is made if you do. Abide by your own ideals in your own affairs.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Make the amenities of your regular Sunday habits, but be definitely secretive about personal affairs, your opinions of recent events, and let others expound their views.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Channel your energies so that they are not wasted nor diverted. Picking on family is taboo. There are several odd chores around your abode that need attending to today.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Pre-emptive will bring no real improvement. Sneak out what is on your mind and get done with it. Avoid doing anything with your earnings or savings today. Refuse loans to those who are in a hurry to borrow.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Any passive mood of malice is to be discarded, especially if you slip and express any word of it. Cleanse yourself, and go on. There is no real remedy for any sort of offense except your own success in outgrowing the impact.

Doctor-Lawyer Parley Told How Killers Beat Rap

By TERRY SATTORIA
Staff Writer

LAS VEGAS — Some 1,400 doctors and lawyers attending the National Medical-Legal Symposium were told by experts Friday that people in their communities may be "getting away with murder."

Included in facts discussed at the symposium here were revelations that:

—Thousands of murderers in the United States will go free next year, not because of courtroom acquittal, but because they never will see the inside of a police station.

—As many as 8,000 murders in this country next year will not get police attention, and thousands more will undergo police investigation, but accused slayers will escape criminal justice because of incompetent medical homicide investigations.

The physicians and attorneys attending the three-day forum, co-sponsored by the American Bar and American Medical associations, were informed of the startling fact that only eight states have laws requiring a board-certified forensic pathologist as coroner.

The rest, including California, operate on the "coroner system" in which the position of coroner is a public office to which anyone from a plumber to a mortician can be elected.

Los Angeles County Deputy Dist. Atty. John W. Miner, who participated in a courtroom dramatization entitled, "Getting Away With Murder," said one of the greatest problems in prosecuting homicide cases is competent medical testimony.

"Often," Miner said, "when autopsies are performed, they are performed by hospital pathologists who are highly qualified medical men, but who do not have the special training and competence in homicide investigation.

"These men often overlook important laboratory tests and physical evidence that can 'blow' a case for the prosecution."

Miner, a 10-year veteran, said Los Angeles County doesn't suffer from this problem because a county ordinance has created the position of medical examiner, requiring a coroner to be a certified forensic pathologist.

"But," he said, "the rest of the state's counties, with the exception of San Francisco County, still operate under the 'archaic' coroner system."

The dramatization, performed for the doctors and lawyers, illustrated the importance of more competent medical examinations in homicide cases.

The two-part "drama" consisted of examinations and cross-examinations of two doctors who testified for the prosecution in the same convincingly dramatized courtroom homicide case.

In one instance, the expert was a highly competent and trained medical examiner. In the other, he was a medically well qualified hospital pathologist, but lacking in the forensic expertise needed in homicide investigation.

The results bore out the conclusion that better medical examination in homicide cases is needed. When the non-forensically trained pathologist testified, the defense attorney successfully moved for acquittal on the grounds of insufficient evidence of murder.

The certified expert's testimony, which included many details overlooked by the non-expert, conclusively pointed to homicide.

The symposium, which began Thursday and ends today, is an attempt by the bar and medical associations to promote mutual knowledge, appreciation and understanding between the professions of law and medicine.

Teachers Told of Layoff Possibility in Paramount

By RALPH McCLURG
Staff Writer

The 439 certificated members of Paramount Unified School District's staff were notified Friday, by the Board of Education, "a reduction of staff may be necessary during the 1969-70 school year."

The notification was required because today is the deadline under state law to give notice to teachers and other certificated personnel that they may not be employed in the next school year.

However, school trustees left little doubt there would be teacher layoffs because of the financial squeeze of the district. It is reportedly caused by demands for higher teacher pay and the lack of local and state school revenues.

AT A SPECIAL MEETING of the trustees earlier it was decided to continue until the board's regular meeting on March 25, the questions of calling a special tax rate override election, reduction from six to five periods for all students in grades seven through 12, upgrading of teacher salaries, and fringe benefits for non-teaching personnel.

Dr. Leonard Bacon, representing district school principals, earlier recommended adoption of a resolution calling a special election to ask "for at least a $2 tax override to take effect July 1."

Trustees split on the override proposal and delayed action until a report and recommendation are obtained from the district's Financial Advisory Committee.

IN DEATH VALLEY

Hunt for Doctor, Family Stopped

By BILL HOMER
Staff Writer

An Inyo County sheriff's search for a San Marino doctor, his physician wife and four of their six children — all of whom apparently vanished while on a Death Valley camping trip — was halted at sundown Friday.

But Dr. Edwin M. Duvall, of Long Beach, father of missing pediatrician James M. Duvall, 39, said it hasn't been positively established that his son ever got to Death Valley.

"I was told a California Highway Patrol office near Death Valley received a call from a motorist whose name sounded like 'Duvall,'" Dr. Duvall said Friday.

"THE MOTORIST was checking road and weather conditions at the valley and reportedly told the officer he talked to he might change his camping destination.

"It might have been just someone whose name sounded like my son's and not him at all. But I hope it was him and I hope they're all OK."

An Inyo County sheriff's spokesman said a search of the Death Valley and Panamint Valley areas revealed no trace of the missing doctor, his wife, Barbara, 42, also a pediatrician, sons Harold, 6, John, 9, and Charles, 10, and daughter, Ellen, 7.

Deputies and federal park rangers covered the entire 6,500-square-mile search area after the Duvall family was reported missing when failing to return home Sunday night.

THE CIVIL Air Patrol scanned the search area from the air, but also failed to turn up any trace of the missing family, the sheriff's spokesman said.

"I didn't even know anything about this until Tuesday," Dr. Duvall said at his son's Pasadena office.

"The two older children — Douglas and Roger, 12½-year-old twins — didn't go on the trip. They've been at home with their other grandfather."

"Jim left a note Friday afternoon saying they were going to Death Valley and evidently left in a well-provisioned camper.

"MY SON'S a good driver and very experienced in the outdoors. They've been having bad weather near Death Valley recently, and he might have gotten stuck somewhere along a dirt road.

"But if he was anywhere near a telephone, I'm sure he would have called before now."

The Inyo County sheriff's spokesman said park rangers, using four-wheel-drive vehicles, checked out all weather damaged roads in the search area, but failed to find the family.

"We don't even know whether the Duvalls ever reached our county," the spokesman said.

State Fair Prices Will Be Lower

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's 19-day mini state fair this summer hopes to attract a million customers by rolling back prices and offering nickel games, quarter hot dogs and a top of 50 cents for "big spectacular rides."

With the financial fiasco of last summer's 59-day California Exposition and Fair still a fresh memory, fair officials announced plans Friday for a bare-bones operation modeled after the better-attended state fairs of the 1950s and 60s.

Cal Expo attracted slightly over 600,000 customers during its lengthy and dismal run and Ralph A. Nissen, president of the California Exposition and Fair Committee, said he didn't think the state "got its full dollar's worth for every dollar spent."

Bobby Cohn, president of West Coast Shows, which will run the fair's carnival, said, "People felt all along Cal Expo was overpriced. The time has come to get back to earth and we're going back to the 1950 price schedule in rides."

Cal Expo's finances are in such bad shape, the fair's officials couldn't even pick up the tab for the luncheon announcing the 1969 fair, which will run from Aug. 22 to Sept. 9.

Invitations to newsmen said: "Because of the problems surrounding the fair's financing, the luncheon will be hosted by West Coast Shows, Inc."

Mobley Opposes Fuel Tax Increase

KERMAN (UPI) — Assemblyman Ernest N. Mobley, R-Sanger, Friday stated his opposition to any immediate increase in fuel taxes to finance repairs to flood-damaged roads.

Mobley, a member of the Assembly Rules Committee, said enough funds were already available to begin repairs.

lion from the district's budget in an austerity move designed to cope with anticipated reduction in income.

Superintendent Louis G. Zeyen, reporting approximately 100 employees will be affected — including dismissal of 10 nurses and a psychologist at the end of the present school year — said the cutbacks became necessary after defeat of a tax override proposal at a special election last month.

Students Aid Boy As a Memorial

Students of Lakewood's Mayfair High School have undertaken sponsorship of a Mexican boy in Arizona as a memorial to their former director of activities, the late James J. Renkiewicz.

Mr. "R", as Renkiewicz was known, served as director of activities for seven years, prior to his death last year from cancer.

The students decided it was a fitting tribute to the memory of "Mr. R" to adopt a needy student they could help through school.

Working through the Christian Children's Fund the students found a 17-year-old Mexican-American boy named Jaime, who lives in Stanfield, Ariz.

He is being cared for by the Stanfield Project of the Christian Children's Fund, which supplies clothing, medical care, and recreation his parents are unable to afford.

Jaime's father, a field laborer, is in constant search for employment as a crop picker while his mother maintains the home.

To support the boy various clubs and classes at Mayfair are offering to underwrite the $12 for one month's expense. More than a dozen groups have already volunteered to assist this year.

Because Mr. and Mrs. Renkiewicz had an adopted child the students felt it was tribute to do the same, according to Merle Bailey, director of activities. The students plan to make the adoption offering a continuing project, Bailey said.

2 Irvine Seniors Honored

Two seniors at University of California Irvine have become the school's first students designated as Woodrow Wilson Fellows, in a program designed to encourage potential college teachers in first year post-graduate studies.

Karen Anderson, of La Habra, a psychology major, and Barry Glass, of Los Angeles, a classics major, won the honors. A third senior, Leonard J. Woo, of Fullerton, a mathematics major, received honorable mention.

Miss Anderson, daughter of an industrial mathematician, plans to enter graduate school at the University of Michigan. Glass plans to enter Harvard University.

His brother, Dr. Stephen Glass, an archeologist at Claremont College, also was a Woodrow Wilson Fellow.

The designation gives financial awards for studies to the students.

Nationally, 11,704 candidates were nominated, and 1,106 chosen for awards. Of 17 "new" universities in competition this year, only UCI had two winners.

Charge Man in Asylum with Deaths

AUBURN (AP) — A 56-year-old San Mateo export-import merchant who has been in a mental hospital for four months was charged Friday in the deaths of his wife and son, whose bodies were found Thursday near the family's summer home.

William G. Nelson, who sheriff's deputies said sketched a map showing where to find the bodies of his wife Betty, 47, and son David, 9, was arrested at DeWitt State Hospital and booked in the Placer County jail for investigation of murder.

BOTH HAD been shot in the head at least twice with a small caliber weapon and buried in a shallow grave, deputies said.

A married daughter in Redwood City, Bonnie Dorman, 24, reported her family missing last Oct. 24.

On Dec. 2, authorities found Nelson in a hysterical state in the attic of the mountain cabin.

At the time, he told deputies he thought his wife and son had been trying to avoid him and he said he hoped by secreting himself in the attic they would return to the cabin unaware of his presence. He was taken to DeWitt for observation.

Three Plead Innocent in Jail Death Solon Proposes Contracting Prison Jobs to Industries

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Three youths pleaded innocent Friday to murder charges in connection with the Dec. 13 strangulation of another youth.

The defendants were the cellmates of Steven Poirch, 17, of San Diego.

Pleading innocent were William L. Theis, 18, of La Mesa; Ricky Dean Luttrell, 17, of Evansville, Ind.; and William Evitch, 17, of Birchwood, Wis. Evitch also pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

Evitch and Luttrell were absent without leave from the Marine Corps and Theis was being held in connection with drug charges.

The three have been ordered to stand trial as adults May 5 in Superior Court. They are held in county jail in lieu of bond.

SACRAMENTO (AP) — A report prepared for the Assembly Ways and Means Committee cites several deficiencies in the state's prison industrial program, and suggests private industry provide jobs for prison inmates.

The report, released Friday by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, chairman of the Select Committee on the Administration of Justice, says the program isn't reaching its basic objectives.

The report said contracting with private business would improve the efficiency of the program, give inmates more training they could actually use and eliminate state competition with private industry.

Under the program, which had sales of $10.8 million during the 1967-68 fiscal year, prison inmates turn out furniture, textiles, farm and dairy products and other goods for sale to various state and local government agencies.

BIDDLE SAID an inmate's success or failure on parole often depends on whether he can keep a job, and added, "It is obvious from the report that inmates have not had the opportunity to learn the necessary skills and work habits to compete effectively in the present labor market."

The report suggests that a Correctional Employment Opportunities Board be created to oversee private industrial programs.

It also recommended that companies be given incentives — such as tax deductions or price preference — to encourage them to contract with the state. Inmates working for such a company would be paid prevailing wages and get normal fringe benefits but would repay the state for their room and board.

The report does admit one problem. On wages and fringe benefits, it says, "Not all wages take the form of money. Medical insurance, paid vacations, and life insurance may also be part of the wage package. While a paid vacation might be a difficult program to implement, medical insurance need not be."

Tarbabes Grind Ventura, 56-51

By KEN PIVERNETZ Staff Writer

Winning can become a habit if you're a basketball player at Compton High.

The Tarbabes shook off an eight-point first-half deficit and went on to post their 61st win in a row, 56-51 over Ventura, in a CIF 4-A semi-final playoff game Friday night at the L.A. Sports Arena.

Bill Armstrong's club can add another record to its long list of accomplishments with a win in the finals tonight at 9 against Sunny Hills.

No Southern California high school team has ever posted perfect back-to-back seasons. Hardly any of the 7,508 fans in attendance Friday would be willing to bet against Compton being able to accomplish the feat tonight.

Ventura was no ordinary team, having won 27 successive games in a row since dropping its season opener.

The Cougars got off to a quick 6-0 lead on two baskets by Keith Wilkes and Dave Meyer and were ahead by as many as eight points (20-12) early in the second quarter before Compton went to work.

The Tarbabes then held Ventura to a single free throw in the next five minutes and went ahead for good, 22-21, with 3:20 to go in the half on a basket in close by Reynaldo Brown.

They played on fairly even terms the rest of the way, but the damage already had been done.

VENTURA, which had hit 52 per cent (34 for 65) of its shots in the Long Beach Arena last weekend, managed to hit only 19 of 49 against the Tarbabes.

The game was actually decided on the backboards. Compton outrebounded the Cougars, 40-19 as Larry Hollyfield, Don Womack and Lewis Nelson repeatedly worked for the second effort.

Wilkes, a 6-5 junior, grabbed nine of Ventura's rebounds and took high-point honors with 21.

Sunny Hills, who was beaten earlier this season by Compton, outlasted Notre Dame, 71-65 in the second game.

The Lancers were down, 45-39, with 4:04 to go in the third quarter, but outscored their taller opponents 12-4 the rest of the period on some sharp-shooting by Brad McNamara and Don Paul to go ahead for good.

ERICKSON'S SHOTS DECISIVE

Lakers Near Title, 111-103

By DOUG IVES Staff Writer

Keith Erickson, who will never win a prize for his outside shooting, broke open a tight game with four baskets early in the fourth period Friday night that lifted the Lakers to a 111-103 victory over Milwaukee.

The win reduced the Lakers' magic number to two for clinching their first Western Division title in three seasons. They have five games remaining, including three on the road beginning Sunday in Boston.

Erickson, ironically, had not even attempted a shot in the second and third periods when he ran off his string that wiped out an 88-85 Milwaukee lead and put the Lakers ahead for keeps against the hustling expansion team.

A 10-foot bank shot started Erickson's streak at 10:07, then he connected twice from the corner at 9:44 and 9:14 to make the score 91-86. Forty-six seconds later the former UCLA star scrambled for an offensive rebound and banked still another basket.

Before the quarter ended Erickson had added four more points, all from the foul line, and the Lakers easily secured their 51st win of the season—one shy of last year's total and three short of the club record set in 1961-62.

Bill Hewitt, another Laker who seldom gets a chance to shine late in a game, also played a major part in the victory with some great rebounding. Three times he launched the fast-break that resulted in Erickson scoring.

"If he keeps playing that way I'll have to use him more," said coach Bill van Breda Kolff, who will sacrifice Tommy Hawkins. "Sometimes Hewitt doesn't seem to have his mind on the game. Tonight he was great."

Wilt Chamberlain was in the middle when Hewitt skied over him to pick off the rebounds, and the temperamental giant didn't seem to appreciate being upstaged. Wilt finished with 20 rebounds and 15 points. He didn't take a shot in the final 15 minutes.

The superstars, Chamberlain, Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, made contributions, as usual, but in uncommon fashion. Chamberlain and Baylor did it

Santa Clara's Hopes Center on Lew's Ankle Condition

By LOEL SCHRADER Staff Writer

What does a team think about as it approaches a Western Regional basketball championship rematch with Lew Alcindor and UCLA?

"Well, we're sure not going to think about UCLA," said Santa Clara coach Dick Garibaldi Friday. "If you think about UCLA, it will drive you crazy."

"We're going to concentrate on the things we do well on offense. As for defense, we'll just have to wait and see about that."

The Broncos and Bruins clash at 3:05 today in Pauley Pavilion for the Western title and a berth in the national tournament March 20 and 22 at Louisville.

Their game will be televised by Ch. 4. An earlier Midwest Regional final between Tulsa and Colorado State will be aired by the same channel at 1 p.m.

Today's Pauley schedule also includes a third-place match between New Mexico State and Weber State at 1.

UCLA's main concern Friday was the condition of Alcindor, who limped off the court with a slight ankle sprain near the conclusion of the Bruins' 53-38 victory over New Mexico State Thursday night.

Injuries Hit Purdue, N. Carolina

United Press International

Injuries, the dilemma of every coach, may add a surprising finish to the 1969 NCAA basketball championships.

Top-ranked UCLA and seventh-ranked Purdue, teams favored to reach the semifinals at Louisville, Ky., next week, were hit with injuries to key personnel in their regional semifinal games Thursday night and may be in for trouble in tonight's finals.

All-America center Lew Alcindor suffered a slight sprain of the right ankle but is expected to be ready.

Purdue's injury situation is worse. The Boilermakers received a terrific jolt when center Chuck Bavis suffered a shoulder separation in their 91-71 victory over Miami of Ohio. Bavis will be lost for the rest of the tournament.

That puts two starters on the sidelines for Purdue. Herman Gilliam, a star forward, has missed four games with a severely sprained ankle, but coach George King was hopeful Gilliam might be back in action for tonight's Midwest final with Marquette.

Even with a completely healthy squad, Purdue could be expected to have its hands full with Marquette. The Warriors staged a major upset Thursday night by trimming fifth-ranked Kentucky, 81-74, and seem eager to reach Louisville.

George Thompson, a strong 6-2 forward, out-muscled Kentucky's 6-7 Dan Issel and could be the deciding factor against Purdue, especially if Gilliam isn't around to guard him.

IN The East Regional final, second-ranked Davidson appears to have an edge over third-ranked North Carolina, which has been forced to play without guard Dick Grubar.

Davidson, paced by Mike Maloy's 35 points, looked especially good in downing eighth-ranked St. John's, 79-69, Thursday night while North Carolina just managed to squeeze by 10th-ranked Duquesne, 79-78.

However, Davidson's strength is inside with a double-post setup involving Maloy and Doug Cook, and it is doubtful they will be able to overpower North Carolina's giant front line.

The Midwest Regional final involves a team which likes to run, Drake, against a team that never runs, Colorado State. Drake beat Texas A&M, 81-63, while Colorado State upset Colorado, 64-56.

bother me." If Alcindor is not hobbled, Santa Clara's chances appear minimal. Las Vegas oddsmaker Jimmy (The Greek) Snyder has the Bruins favored by 12 to 16 points, depending upon Alcindor's condition.

The Bruins annihilated the Broncos in the last year's Western Regional final in Albuquerque, 87-66.

Santa Clara's strength is in areas in which the Bruins also are strongest.

The Broncos' top three scorers are 6-9½ center Dennis Awtrey (21.7 average), 6-6 Bud Ogden (17.9) and Ralph Ogden (16.1). The Ogdens are forwards.

They all function better inside, where they must face the imposing and intimidating defense of Alcindor, who has discouraged the best in the college ranks during his three-year reign at UCLA.

"We have to shoot well from the outside against UCLA," pointed out Garibaldi.

This may be wishful thinking.

guards, Terry O'Brien and Kevin Eagleson, have averaged 5.7 and 5.2 points. As he predicted in advance of the regional tournament, Wooden credited the Bruins' loss to USC last Saturday with jarring the Bruins out of their lethargy.

"I felt we would come back to form and I believe we did against New Mexico State," said the UCLA coach.

Garibaldi reported he had been asked "50,000 times whether we'll stall against UCLA." "We'll attempt to run the stuff we have used all year," he said. "I don't know how fast that'll be, but I don't think we'll be able to shift our style in one day."

In compiling a 27-1 record, the Broncos have averaged 78 points. They defeated Weber State, 63-59, in overtime Friday.

BOWIE ADDS MORE BOUNCE TO THE OUNCE

Giants Hop All Over Hopped-Up Ball...and Angels

By GORDON VERRELL Staff Writer

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The Angels and Giants experimented with a souped-up baseball Friday and the only thing the Angels are wondering is which version of the ball they saw, the old or the new.

The Giants, who hardly need a rabbit ball, hopped all over the hopped-up ball for a 13-1 spring exhibition victory.

While the Giants clearly demonstrated just how much livelier the new baseball really is, the new ball had little effect on the Angels, who were limited to a mere four singles.

Which brings to mind a comment Buzzie Bavasi once made when asked about the super ball. Said Buzzie: "If you don't hit it, it doesn't matter how hopped-up it is." So concerned was Bill Rigney, the Angels' manager, he walked out to the home plate umpire midway through the game to inquire if his hitters were swinging at the same ball as the Giants were.

"That's exactly why I went out there," Rig said. "Did it look like we were?"

All the Giants did was rifle out 14 hits, including two home runs by Bobby Bonds, a triple by Jim Hart and a bases-loaded double by Willie Mays.

"Sure, I like that ball," smiled Willie. "Are they gonna use it this year?" he asked. "I sure hope they do before I quit."

There's no plan to use the ball this season — if ever. It's merely an experiment, another in the long line of suggestions aimed at getting more oomph back into the game.

Where the rabbit ball differs from the regulation baseball is in the center. The yarn and the cover are identical. But the center, which is cork covered by two layers of rubber in the regulation ball, is solid rubber in the boomer.

The difference is obvious, not so much on distance but rather on the way ground balls skip through the infield. Line drives take off faster, too, as Angel third baseman Aurelio Rodriguez found out. He gloved a screamer off the bat of Hal Lanier, strictly in self defense.

Bowie Kuhn, the new commissioner, watched the game, one of two contests selected to test out the rabbit ball.

"I don't think there's any doubt there's more action with that ball," said the commissioner. "I haven't heard any of the hitters complain about the ball. And, surprisingly, few of the pitchers have said much about it."

The new ball is supposed to have roughly 10 percent more bounce. The Spalding company, which makes the new ball as well as the regulation ball, estimates a normal 400-foot drive would be closer to 450 feet with the live ball.

But the pitchers won't have to worry for a while at least. The commissioner's office ordered only 10 dozen of the new balls, just enough for two games. All the new balls have been used up.

But, according to the commissioner, "I just think we might order some more and keep experimenting."

USC's Loss Turns Into Dodgers' Gain

By FRED CLAIRE
Staff Writer

VERO BEACH—On June 1 of last year Bobby Valentine signed a letter of intent to attend the University of Southern California. John McKay and Rod Dedeaux dryshaved their heads and licked their lips.

Now here is an athlete — Robert John Valentine from Rippowam High School of Stamford, Conn. Oh, how Bobby had ripped 'em for old Rippowam.

As a junior and senior he had been selected to high school all-America football teams. Three times he won all-state honors as a halfback.

He was an all-county baseball player for four years, three times as a shortstop and then as a centerfielder in his senior year.

And, just for fun, he ran indoor track. He won the state high school championship in the 60-yard dash (6.3) and also in the 300 (32.1) as a senior.

"I didn't do too well in the state finals as a junior," says Bobby. "I finished second in both races."

The Dodgers didn't do too well Friday, either, losing to the Chicago White Sox, 9-3, at Sarasota Fla.

The USC recruiters whispered in Bobby's ear that O.J. Simpson would be leaving after one more season. "You're the guy who can replace O.J.," was the word Bobby heard on a visit to the USC campus.

Bobby wanted to play baseball too, and well, Rod Dedeaux wouldn't have it any other way.

When Valentine signed the letter of intent, there was a celebration in the coaches' quarters. It was a major victory for USC.

Bobby probably was the most recruited high school athlete in the country last spring.

"Gee, there were a lot of offers," says Bobby. "I really didn't get to read all of them but my father counted 180. We've saved all of them in a trunk."

As it developed, Bobby never will wear the Trojan colors. He's now running around in old Dodger grays at Dodgerstown.

He was the Dodgers' No. 1 choice in the June draft of last season. Bobby Valentine was graduated from Rippowam on June 16 of last season and the next day he signed with the Dodgers for $30,000.

The night he signed, Bobby was on a plane for Ogden to join the Dodger rookie league team.

"He just may be the best centerfielder in this camp right now," says one Dodger official.

Valentine was one of four prize pupils Tom LaSorda had at Ogden. The other three are third baseman Steve Garvey, pitcher Sandy Vance and first baseman Bill Buckner.

The youngsters wrote letters to Dodger players last season, stating they had their eyes on varsity jobs.

"I wrote my letter to Willie Davis and told him that I was determined to be the Dodger centerfielder," says Bobby. "But it was all kind of a joke."

When I met Willie at Dodger Stadium after our season he took his glove and threw it in his locker and then, while he was guarding it, he said 'I hear you want that.' It was all good natured kidding."

Dodgers' 11th baseman, Davey Johnson, said he was determined to be the Dodger centerfielder. "But it was all kind of a joke."

Nine Derby Hopefuls in San Felipe

Nine of the top 10 derby prospects at Santa Anita tangle in the $50,000-added San Felipe Handicap today, headed by a two time stakes winner, Mr. Joe F.

The 10th, undefeated in five races and probably the finest of the lot, is Majestic Prince.

Trainer Johnny Longden decided to skip the 1-16 mile San Felipe in which his $250,000 colt would carry high weight of 126 pounds.

The San Felipe is the last major challenge for the shophomore set before the $100,000-added Santa Anita Derby March 29 in which each candidate will pack 120 pounds.

Big Mouth Sam came on strongly in the stretch to overhaul favored Major Glory and win the featured $9,000 Determine Purse Friday.

Big Mouth Sam rewarded his backers $16.60, $6 and $3.20. Major Glory paid $3 and $2.40 and Race The Wind returned $2.40.

Big Mouth Sam, a gelded son of Kentucky Pride and Red's Five Acres, provided jockey Don Pierce with his third success of the afternoon, three winners.

FORM CHARTS

4--Detroit, AL East

PROSPECTUS — Tigers stood pat during trading season and will go with same lineup that won a world championship last fall in stunning fashion. McLain and Lolich lead a strong pitching staff; Cash, Horton and Freehan are consistent power hitters, and defense is tight. If everybody at least equals '68 performances, Mayo Smith's Tigers will be back to defend that world title.

PITCHING — Denny McLain won 31 last season, but will probably settle for 25 this time around. As long as his arm stays sound, he'll remain tough to beat. Mickey Lolich, after sensational World Series, looms larger than ever. Joe Sparna (10-10) and Earl Wilson (10-13) are better than records indicate. Bullpen is loaded with Roy Face, John Wyatt, Don McMahon and Fred Lasher. Rating: A.

CATCHING — Bill Freehan is one of best. He hit .263 last season, slammed 25 homers, drove in 84 runs. Also fine handler of pitchers. Jim Price is his backup man. Rating: A.

INFIELD — Norm Cash, at 36 keeps rolling along. He was great in clutch last season, when he hit .263 and slammed 25 homers. Dick McAuliffe is back at second (he hit 16 homers last season), and Don Wert at third. Tigers lost Roy Oyster in expansion draft, and will fill short with either Dick Tracwiski or Tom Matchick, both poor hitters. Rating: B+.

OUTFIELD — Al Kaline had fine World Series and finally played on a championship club. He's 35, and giving it at least one more season. Willie Horton (36 homers) and Mickey Stanley round out excellent outfield. Gates Brown and Jim Northrup also figure. Rating: A.

ROOKIES TO WATCH — Outfielder Ron Woods and first baseman Don Pepper, up from Toledo, are power hitters who could fit right in.

PREDICTED FINISH: 1st IN EAST

METS RIP CARDS, 16-6

Red Sox Acquire Angels' Newman

The Ang.'s traded pitcher Fred Newman to Boston Friday for an undisclosed amount of money and a player to be tabbed later.

Newman, from the Angels' El Paso, Tex., minor league team, has been bothered with arm trouble the past several seasons.

The New York Mets showed total disdain for St. Louis' National League championship Friday, pounding the Cardinals 16-6 in exhibition play.

The Mets collected 22 hits with rookie Amos Otis smashing two doubles and a homer and driving in four runs. The Mets scored seven runs on nine hits in the first inning.

Washington's losing streak stretched to eight with Montreal tagging Ted Williams' club, 3-1.

The Cards' last holdout, Julian Javier, signed his contract while the Giants still require Juan Mari-chella's signature.

Readers Respond Pro and Con to 'Sodom & Gomorrah' Charge

HOW TRUE

Editor: Dr. Samuel H. Sutherland's straightforward remarks in the article, Days of Sodom & Gomorrah Back. Says Biola President, have indeed stepped on many toes. CONGRATULATIONS on "so stepping"!!

How true it is that our so called "respectable" younger married and middle-age citizens in alarming numbers are condoning, if not actually indulging in activities of low moral quality. How many times I have heard comments such as, "Well, he only had one affair, just a little emotional involvement; no reason at all for anyone to be so upset." I say this is just ONE example of a too tolerant attitude toward degrading behavior which exists in our country today.

If more people, like Dr. Sutherland, would stand up against immoral actions and attitudes, perhaps we, who want a society with higher moral standards to bequeath to our children, would not feel so alone. Perhaps also, such articles might inspire public self examination.

Thank you, Dr. Sutherland for your editorial, and thank you, Independent, Press-Telegram for

YOUTH OPEN COFFEE HOUSE

A Saturday night Coffee House for high school and college age youth is proving to be a hit at California Heights Methodist Church.

Folk music, fellowship and refreshments are on the agenda from 8 p.m. to midnight in a former altar room converted by the church's senior high and college youth.

Any folk music groups wishing to join the fun are asked to contact the sponsors at the church, which is located at Orange Avenue and Bixby Road.

Readers were invited to comment on last Saturday's article "Days of Sodom and Gomorrah Back, Says Biola President," in which Dr. Samuel H. Sutherland discussed the state of contemporary sex morality. Here are responses received up to Thursday.

printing portions of it.

Just as an "aside," I am a 36-year-old Christian (though not a regular church-goer) wife of a university football coach, and mother of two boys, 10 and 13. I am reputedly NOT an "old fogey" in the eyes of adults as well as teen-agers. (I work with teen-agers at the Millikan High School Library.)

MARLYS B. LEVY (MRS. DAVID A.)

EXAGGERATED

Dear Editor: Dr. Sutherland speaks of "total promiscuity evidenced on every hand, even among the so-called respectable citizenry of the community and alas, to be found in some church circles also," and implies that the great majority of middle class young marrieds are engaged in key clubs and wife swapping.

Perhaps the good man should stop reading the covers of the "I Confess" type of magazines in the drug stores, and get into the real world of average people, where, to be sure, there may be such goings on among a fringe of the jet setty crowd. The rest of us ordinary mortals, Dr. Sutherland, do not have the time, energy, money and opportunity to spare from making a living, bringing up our children, and taking care of our homes — even if we had such inclinations.

He attacks "the freedom allowed in the making and showing of modern moving pictures." Would any literate adult care to have Dr. Sutherland's definition of "modern" determine what films he or she could or could not see?

HEADING THAT WAY

Editor: "Producers know full well that the American public would never pay to see a good, clean, wholesome picture," says Dr. Sutherland. Did he ever hear of Mary Poppins and The Sound of Music, the two biggest money makers of the past few years?

WHICH CHURCH?

Dear Sir: Well, three cheers for playing up the Biola president's speech. Whether or not things are as bad as in the days of Sodom and Gomorrah, the way some movies and TV programs are going we may be heading in that direction, and a word of warning is not amiss.

LIKE IT IS

To the Editor: Come now, Dr. Sutherland. The state of things is surely bad enough so you do not have to claim that if a minister preached against sin his congregation would demand his resignation! Was that the First Satanic Church you were referring to? Let's not talk nonsense.

Sharing Sunday

for Refugees

Most American Protestant denominations will give special attention to a ministry of compassion on Sunday as they seek to raise approximately $18 million during "One Great Hour of Sharing Sunday."

Traditionally observed on the fourth Sunday of Lent, the day is designed to enable participating U.S. Protestants to secure funds for the world relief and rehabilitation programs effected through Church World Service, the relief arm of the National Council of Churches. Special emphasis this year will be given to Nigeria-Biafra, the Middle East, and to new forms of fighting hunger.

Church World Service Director James MacCracken reports that there are more than a million refugees under canvases in the Middle East, and several millions, many without even a canvas shelter, in Nigeria-Biafra.

In its 21 years of existence as an ecumenical agency, Church World Service has distributed more than four billion pounds of foods to people in need overseas, and has spent more than $100,000,000 in Asia, Africa, Latin America and parts of Europe.

that is now shown in movie theatres.

Now is the time for everyone to think about where he or she will spend eternity. May Dr. Sutherland's article inspire many souls to switch from the low road to the high road where real peace and happiness will be found in obedience to the commands of our Creator.

BLEAK CHOICE

Editor:

The harshly puritanical stance of clergymen of Dr. Sutherland's persuasion is one of the causes of today's "Sodom and Gomorrah." The grim, joyless and intellectually unacceptable views of such pastors cause many to turn from the churches. Such refugees from intolerable religion often go to excess in their search for some meaning in life.

Fortunately Christianity offers something better than these bleak alternatives of puritanism and hell-raising. Christianity, rightly understood, is a doctrine of joy, courage, reason and love. There are Christians who find no attraction to either rigidity or fleshpots. They have something better to do with their lives.

On Episcopal Remarriage, Odd Debate

By LES RODNEY

Southern California's Episcopalians will ask the 1970 general convention to liberalize the denomination's stand on remarriages, long a sore point with many priests and parishioners.

They will ask that the intention of the proposed second marriage be given the prior consideration, rather than an analysis of the marriage that failed.

The church's Marriage Canon, last changed in 1946, is generally called the "annulment canon." It allows remarriage to divorced Episcopalians within the church only if the prior marriage is officially declared null and void.

This, said a resolution passed at last month's 74th annual convention of the Southland diocese, the nation's largest, "often results in a legalistic and punitive decision."

The strongly worded resolution, showing a sharp edge of impatience toward what it called the church's "apparent sclerosis in this matter," said the denomination's authority and relevance is being increasingly challenged on this matter, which is so central to the lives of the persons involved.

The California church ministers in a state where 50 per cent of all marriages end in divorce, the resolution points out, and in a state where "one of the major needs in society is preparation for remarriage in which the love of God is offered to those who have failed in the first attempt."

The Episcopal Church, the resolution says, seems to say through its Marriage Canon that "the only mistake we will not forgive is the high-risk undertaking of marriage."

The church should have as its primary concern in the petition of a divorced person to remarry "the stability and Christian intentions of the future marriage rather than involved judicial estimates of the past," the resolution states.

It asks for a change which would make the canon "more expressive of the redemptive nature of the church, more helpful pastorally, and would also discard the 'annulment' concept as the only justification for remarriage in the church if the couple intends a lifelong Christian marriage."

Will the change be effected by the general convention? In spite of glacial tendencies of the Episcopal hierarchy in matters of tradition, knowledgeable Southland Episcopal priests feel this is an adjustment whose time has come, and it has the support to win.

INTERESTING quote in the March issue of the American Baptist "Crusader" by the ABC president, Dr. Culbert G. Kutenber. Speaking of a group called the "Younger Churchmen" within the denomination, he says:

"The Younger Churchmen, like the Black Churchmen, are much more reasonable men when you talk with them personally than you would gather from their more abrasive public statements."

YOU CAN'T TELL the players without a scorecard these days. In a debate between Protestant and Roman Catholic theologians on abortion, you think you know which side each would be on, don't you.

What about if we have a conservative Protestant and a liberal Catholic?

In the CBS Radio Network "World of Religion," which is running a five-installment series on the controversial topic, the principals were George H. Williams, a conservative Protestant theologian, professor of divinity at Harvard Divinity School, and Rev. Giles Milhaven, a Catholic who teaches Christian Ethics at Fordham. Prof. Williams was opposed to reforming present laws against abortion, Father Milhaven was for it.

Brief extracts from the debate:

Prof. Williams: "Too many people in our permissive society see sexual revolution, license or freedom, whichever their point of view, as integrally related by extension to abortion... Biology, genetics and embryology make it very clear that we're dealing with a different phase of the moment that the ovum and the sperm come together to form a zygote... when we're sensitive in so many areas to human life, to overlook this innocuous, unprotected area just because it's invisible and inside the mother is to be retrogressive... Human life must be protected."

Father Milhaven: "This is something which could become a human being and therefore has a certain value which should be respected, but you don't need such strong reasons to prevent it from becoming a human being. For example, if it were going to come into life and live a completely starved and frustrated life in some country with too

From African Mud Hut to Calif. PhD

The story of a little orphan girl in a mud hut near Lake Malawi, Africa, now completing her doctoral studies at the University of California, will be told by that person herself, Princess Alice Siwundhla, Friday at Grace Methodist Church.

Mrs. Siwundhla, whose life was changed by the Luwazi Mission School, has captivated audiences throughout the land at schools, service clubs, universities and religious conventions. Her story includes a husband and three children, a surprise appearance on "This Is Your Life," and the studies which will assist the Siwundhlas in helping their people in Malawi.

The program will follow a family night potluck dinner at 6:30 p.m. Friday, to which all are invited to bring a covered dish to share.

Catholic Group Joins Bible Week

The joint Committee for National Bible Week announced that an official body of the Roman Catholic Church will become a sponsor of National Bible Week this year for the first time since the observance was established in 1941.

The Catholic Biblical Association will be co-sponsor of the week, Nov. 23-30.

many children to be fed, I think you'd have a good reason for having the abortion... To say that society does not have the right to decide who should live and who should not live is to ignore the fact that we still execute criminals and bomb cities and attack other nations. Society apparently has that right unless we are going to attack all those positions too."

PAROLE BOARD CHAIRMAN LEADS SERVICE Y FORUM

COCU to Meet, Progress Seen

A preliminary outline of a plan of union and a series of guidelines for local interchurch action will be the major items of business to come to the eighth annual meeting of the Consultation on Church Union in Atlanta starting Monday.

Delegates representing the nine-member denominations in the Consultation will be asked to "study, discuss, and react to" the union outline to be presented by a commission headed by the Rev. Dr. William A. Benfield, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian (Southern) Church of Charleston, W. Va.

Dr. Benfield emphasized the preliminary nature of the commission's work.

"This is intended only to be a sketch indicating the direction in which we want to go as we move toward a united church," he said. He added that he was confident that a draft of a union plan for the new united church would be completed by 1970.

"This will be a radical plan of union," he said, "and it is one that I am sure will breathe with excitement."

The preliminary outline contains material on the nature, the faith, and the worship and sacraments of a united church. Also treated in some detail in the tentative draft are propositions dealing with membership and ministry.

Corps Hosts Musical Evangelist

Singing evangelist Bertil Goutrich, who came to this country from Sweden six years ago, will feature a week of meetings starting 7:30 p.m. nightly from Tuesday through Sunday, Mar. 23 at the Salvation Army Temple, 455 E. Spring St.

His wife Lissy accompanies him in the musical presentations. Goutrich is the composer of many songs, and author of two books. He plays brass instruments and the accordion. His appearances from coast to coast have won him American popularity. He will bring a brief evangelistic message to each meeting.

While everybody is welcome at each night, says Capt. Frederick Gibson of the Salvation Army, Tuesday has been designated as Men's Fellowship Night, Wednesday as Band and Songsters Night, Thursday as Girl Guard Night, Friday as Youth Night (with the junior band and singing company participating), Saturday as Scandinavian Night. There will be a "hallelujah wind-up" on Sunday.

Transportation is provided for those who need it, and there are six bus pickups in Long Beach each night. Those interested are asked to call the Temple for specific places and times.

Smothers' Tape Takes Its Time

By GEORGE ERES
TV-Radio Editor

"What happened on March 9 to the Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour?" asks L.W. Prociach of Long Beach. "Don't leave all of us fans in wonder, please tell what happened to the show?"

I thought there was a fairly clear statement of what happened on last Saturday's TV page, but maybe some missed it.

Quite simply, says CBS, the tape for the show, which is previewed by affiliated stations, did not arrive in time for this preview and a repeat was aired. The show in question will be aired later this month, said CBS.

THE SMOTHERS get a lot of publicity out of their dispute with CBS, but the fact is, they apparently have agreed to submit tapes by a certain deadline. They didn't. The Smothers charged censorship problems caused the delay.

Whatever the cause the tape wasn't on hand at the preview deadline and technically, they have no beef.

When the Smothers are not happy about things they don't mind telling the world. That's O.K., but all this threatening to leave CBS gets a bit tiresome after the fifth or sixth time around. When they do leave the network, if they do, I guess what will be a legitimate story. Until then it smacks a bit much of more press agency.

ARTHUR HILL, a TV actor who usually manages to get good reviews for his work, has some thoughts about TV critics: "... TV critics don't have the same effect on careers that theater critics do. If newspaper critics used the same freedom of comment on new cars that they do on plays, they'd be sued by the manufacturers for damaging their product."

"Can you imagine reading a review of a new automobile, and having the critic find fault with the car and advise readers not to buy it? That's what they do with plays, musicals and the rest."

Yes, I can. Fellow named Ralph Nader, for example. Then, too, the movies, theater and TV people do invite critics to review works, don't they? The critics like what they see, they're great critics; if they don't, obviously, they're incompetent and ought to be sued.

CBS PICKS UP OPTION

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS exercised its option Friday for "The Smothers Brothers Show" to return in the fall — but Tom Smothers said that unless changes are made in censorship of the show, "We won't perform on it."

"We assume they're going to make some changes because they picked up the option," said Smothers.

HE SAID he would meet early next week with Robert D. Wood, president of the CBS television network, in an effort to iron out their differences.

"If he says the network will maintain its same enforcement of continuity acceptance, then we definitely won't perform," said Smothers, who was reached by telephone in Hollywood.

HARBOR CHEVROLET

A C. P. R. train pulled into Revelstoke B.C. with members of a convention occupying the observation car. One of them pointed to a very old Indian Chief sitting, arms akimbo, at the depot and remarked about the old Indian's fabulous memory. "That chief has 'total-recall,'" he continued. "There is nothing he can't remember in its full entirety. Go ahead, ask him a question!"

A skeptic immediately shouted, "Hey, Chief! what did you have for breakfast on May 21st, 1893?" In a deep voice (typical of his tribe), the Chief answered, "EGGS!"

Just then, amid a shower of cinders and a blast of steam, the train whistled off and pulled out. Ten years later, the same fellow who'd asked the question was passing through the same depot, and recognizing the old Chief, shouted, "HOW!" In low tones, the Chief grunted, "SUNNY SIDE UP!"

Folks, don't you forget to see me at Harbor Chevrolet, 3770 Cherry, GA 6-3341.

CAMPUS PASTOR'S VIEW

'Can't Be Neutral' in Student Dissent

By RALPH HINMAN JR.
Education Editor

"On the day I celebrate my Saviour's Resurrection, I go on trial ..."

San Francisco campus pastor Gerald O. Pedersen, locally reared, onetime Eagle Scout and 1943 Poly High School graduate, paused briefly Friday to survey his collegiate audience.

"... on charges I was unlawfully present" during an early December student activist mill-in at San Francisco State College, concluded the 43-year-old Lutheran minister.

A FLURRY OF APPLAUSE arose from Rev. Dr. Pedersen's audience, some 100 California State College at Long Beach students and faculty gathered in the free speech area. Jointly sponsoring his appearance were Lutheran Students Association, Wesley Foundation and United Ministries in Higher Education.

"People constantly ask," Dr. Pedersen recalled, "just what business is it of religion to become involved in this kind of crisis."

Unconsciously he tugged at a Cross, fused with a broken wheel peace symbol, dangling from his clerical collar.

"Such a belief (in noninvolvement) is a denial of Christian belief," he declared. "Many would like the clergy to be neutral—as if a person with deep spiritual concern could be neutral today!"

He told of being clubbed by police during a mass arrest Dec. 5 of "black, brown and other community leaders" on a peace-seeking mission to the San Francisco campus. He and other Protestant clergymen comprise the Campus Ministry, housed across a street from the college.

"My arrest," Pedersen evaluated, "was symbolic that all is not well and peaceful in our society. We are not as good as we think."

Perhaps the main theme in his many-faceted speech was a stressing and restressing of a need for "Third World," non-Caucasian peoples to become directly involved in governing their own lives and institutions.

DR. PEDERSEN, organizer in 1964-67 of a campus religious center in the University of East Africa, related this psychological need to the experience of Africans sent abroad for education.

"They returned as Frenchmen, Englishmen, Americans, Russians," he said. And in similar fashion:

"Black or Mexican-Americans attending our white, middle-class colleges are not prepared to relate to their own communities ... because they are led away from the life styles of the people they are to serve ..."

"There is a need for black faculty to teach a black point-of-view" in special ethnic studies. "A basic principle that black people should determine their own destiny makes a lot of sense to me," he said.

INDEPENDENT PRESS-TELEGRAM

SATURDAY, MARCH 15, 1969 SECTION C—Page C-1

Responding to a question about San Francisco State's current status, Pedersen said, "The (American Federation of Teachers) strikers had their back broken ... by various pressures and all but five are back in the classroom. Unofficially at least, there was not much evidence of a strike the last three weeks."

"It's a mistake," he warned, "to assume, however, that peace has been established at San Francisco. There is no lasting peace ..."

He told another questioner that "I'm not committed to more radical, revolutionary strategies ... I'm committed to revolutionary changes made legitimately in society through use of our great national resources."

And, "My hope is that enough intelligent people of good will in churches, colleges and society will give a decent share and a decent place to all."

Brought to Long Beach from Kansas as an infant, Pedersen attended local schools, played a lot of basketball, was active in Trinity Lutheran Church — "my home parish" — and entered the service upon graduating from Poly. His father, Oscar Pedersen, still lives here.

FOLLOWING THE WAR, he married Long Beach girl Dru Spong at Trinity, attended City College a year and got his first college degree at Pomona. Later he would earn a doctorate in theology at Claremont Graduate School, along with a bachelor's of divinity.

In the years since, the Pedersens became the parents of two youngsters while husband and father taught, preached and served his church, primarily in California and the Pacific Northwest.

Parking Access Delays OK on Seaport Village

By DON BRACKENBURY
Staff Writer

Approval action by the Planning Commission on the proposed "Seaport Village" development at Long Beach Marina has been delayed until Thursday by suggested last-minute change in parking lot access.

Safren Enterprises has a lease from the city on the four-acre, triangular parcel of land south of Basin No. 1 at the marina, and plans to develop it with restaurants and shops.

THE FIRM must obtain a special permit from the Planning Commission because the area is zoned P, for public use, which permits restaurants, but not shops.

Planning Director Ernest Mayer Jr., in recommending approval of the application, said the shops "appear to be an integral part of the complex, but ancillary to the restaurants," and the application is "a reasonable one."

At the request of the city traffic engineer, however, Mayer recommended the proposed entrance to the parking lot be moved to line up with Marina Drive, and that an additional access driveway be provided from the west side of the parking lot to Marina Drive.

Edward A. Killingsworth, architect for Safren Enterprises, told the commission "this is the first I've heard" of the driveway proposal, and said he felt it would present major problems for the operators.

THE plan calls for seven buildings, including one major restaurant and two other eating establishments and a number of small shops. Parking will be provided in the north-east portion of the area. Mooring for 11 boats, for patrons of the center, will be provided along the east side of the marina entrance channel.

"It should be a very handsome development," Killingsworth said.

Carson Area Park Plans Due

From Our L.A. Bureau

Preliminary architectural plans will be drawn for two buildings and other improvements in Stevenson Park in the Carson area, at a cost of about $63,000.

L. S. Hollinger, the county's chief administrative officer, said the project will be done in two stages. The architects, LaSala and Squire of Woodland Hills, will first make plans for a restroom building so that it will be finished by summer vacation.

Other parts of the work involve construction of a multipurpose activity building, a shade shelter and an enclosed patio area.

Hollinger stressed the importance of an early start on the restroom.

"At the present time," he said, "the park is served with portable chemical toilet buildings which are totally unsatisfactory and inadequate."

The architects will get $5,670 for their work.

Water Dept. Wins 'Rebate'

Settlement of another antitrust case — one involving purchases of chemicals for the water treatment plant — has been approved by the Long Beach Board of Water Commissioners.

The settlement involves payment to the Water Department of $32,000.

Prior litigation on antitrust cases involving steel pipe resulted in settlements which brought the Water Department, Harbor Department and general city government more than $300,000.

City Atty. Leonard Putnam said the current settlement results from litigation initiated about two years ago by the city, along with hundreds of other governmental agencies throughout the nation, against nine chemical companies.

The Long Beach case involved purchases of chlorine, caustic soda and soda ash between the period of 1960 to 1964, Putnam said. The defendants were charged with price fixing.

QUARTER CENTURY OF LABOR

More than 450 members of Local 1785, International Association of Machinists, gathered Friday night in Downey's Tahitian Village to observe the union's 25 years of service at Long Beach Naval Shipyard. On hand to aid in the celebration were, from left, Gene Barry, TV's "Bat Masterson" and vice president of the Screen Actor's Guild; Robert Simpson, IAM Southwest vice president; Capt. C. M. Hart, commanding officer of the shipyard, and Paul Burnsky, IAM international representative. Local 1785, a government lodge, heard Burnsky praise their quarter century of service.

Schizophrenia Seen Caused by Faulty Information Path

By BEN ZINSER
Medical-Science Editor

Research indicates that schizophrenia, a severe mental disorder, may be a result of a disruption of the way in which the nervous system presents information to the brain.

The concept was described for doctors Friday by Dr. Jacek Szafran, professor of psychology at USC, in a meeting in St. Mary's Hospital.

DR. SZAFRAN says the concept is a "minority view."

In short, Dr. Szafran says that psychological laboratory investigations show that the schizophrenic isn't getting a full picture of the outside world.

The rate at which visual information can be handled by the patient is abnormally slow, he said. Consequently, only fragmentary information is handled by the victim's brain. Because there is not sufficient significant information to be acted upon, bizarre behavior occurs.

Dr. Szafran said he believes "organic deficiency" causes the disruption in the way information is transmitted to the brain.

Schizophrenia is a severe mental disorder marked by a retreat from reality, delusions, hallucinations, emotional disharmony and regressive behavior.

The cause or causes are unknown. But theories include hereditary susceptibility, frustrations and deprivations in early life and various environmental factors.

WHATEVER THE trouble, the schizophrenic appears to be getting an incomplete view of the outside world, the psychologist said.

If the disruption idea holds up, then treatment might be directed at restoring function in certain brain areas through the use of drugs, Dr. Szafran said.

Dr. Szafran is a former faculty member at Cambridge University, England, and a researcher at Lovelace Foundation, Albuquerque, N.M.

Welfare Clients May Be on Panel

By BILL MAYER
From Our L.A. Bureau

The fight of two Long Beach welfare clients to form a committee in which recipients would help direct the program apparently will be resolved Tuesday.

The matter is to come then before the Board of Supervisors.

DEPUTY COUNTY Counsel Norman Gilbert said the supervisors probably will order preparation of the legal forms needed to establish the committee. State and federal law requires its formation, and the suggested name is "Family and Children's Services Advisory Committee."

One third of its membership must be welfare clients.

The two Long Beach residents who have pushed the issue — and who say top county brass have been stalling — are Jean Rassmussen and Sarah James.

Mrs. Rassmussen lives in the Carmelitos Housing Project and Mrs. James at 2101 Olive Ave.

They were two of three individual plaintiffs in an action brought last Thursday in Los Angeles Superior Court to force the county Department of Public Social Services to set up the committee. The action, filed in Dept. 65, sought a writ of mandate.

THE CARMELITOS Welfare Rights Organization and the Long Beach Central Area Welfare Rights Organization also joined in the suit against Ellis P. Murphy, county social services director. So did several other plaintiffs from outside the Long Beach area.

Their attorney, Valerie Vanaman of the Western Center on Law and Poverty — which operates with federal funds — said Murphy should have formed the committee long ago. "When the federal regulations were written," Mrs. Vanaman said, "they fixed July 1, 1968, as the date for implementing this requirement. But apparently county officials don't want welfare recipients in an official position to give them advice."

Murphy was not available, but sources in his office denied there has been any unnecessary delay.

"There have been legal and financial problems," an aide said. "And it is our opinion that we have until July 1, 1969, to establish the committee."

Mrs. Vanaman said the court action was brought to force Murphy's hand and that apparently it has been successful.

"The county counsel's office has asked us to hold off," she said. "We believe that now there will be appropriate action."

The court case will be "held in abeyance," Mrs. Vanaman said, until the supervisors have had a chance to review the situation Tuesday.

Extradited Rapist Gets Prison Term

Ronald Conner, 28, extradited from Indiana in connection with sex-and-dope parties staged in his Stanton home, offered no defense Friday and was sentenced to a prison term.

Conner admitted one count of statutory rape and Santa Ana Superior Court Judge Robert Gardner ordered him to county jail for a year, as a condition to five years of probation.

The court dropped charges of sex perversion and child molesting, after Conner abandoned a demand for a jury trial, which was to have started Monday.

A 13-year-old girl tipped Norwalk Sheriff's deputies about the round of marijuana parties she said degenerated into sex orgies at Conner's place.

Officers from Stanton,

Westminster and Buena Park scooped up 15 persons on a variety of sex and narcotics offenses. Three men got prison terms; others were sentenced in municipal court on misdemeanor charges.

Public Offered Chest X-Rays

Chest X-rays will be offered the public when a mobile unit visits Cerritos College campus Monday from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m.

The $1.50 X-ray films will be interpreted for lung cancer and heart enlargement as well as the standard tuberculosis checks, according to Margaret Manire, college health nurse.
